Two arrested

Police nab suspects in break-in

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Two men are charged in last week's shooting incident at a home at 2120 Ohio Ave. which left a man dead.

William E. Johnston, 28, of Washington Park, is charged with murder, home invasion and aggravated kidnapping. Jack L. Taylor, 23, of 1346 19th St., Granite City, is charged with home invasion. Bail is set at $500,000 for Johnston and $70,000 for Taylor.

The charges were filed Tuesday through the Madison County State's Attorney's Office. The men were arrested Monday, Police Chief Bill Harris said.

Johnston and Richard Choat, 23, of 807 Iowa St., Madison, allegedly entered the home of Ricky Roberts, 2120 Ohio Ave., late last Wednesday night. Both men were armed and wearing ski masks, police said. Roberts' 9-year-old son was at home when the men entered. Taylor was waiting in an auto in an alley behind the house, police allege.

Bruce trial in 8th day

EDWARDSVILLE — Asking jurors to "keep an open mind," Belleville attorney Paul Stormont Jr. presented his opening statement Wednesday in the eight-day trial of accused double murderer Jack Gordon Bruce.

"At this stage of the trial, Jack Bruce is assumed to be innocent," Stormont said.

Bruce, 43, is on trial for the April 30 murders of Granite City Realtor Carl Hoffman and his wife, Susan, and for the attempted murder of Mrs. Hoffman's daughter, Jennifer Seago.

Stormont told the jury that Bruce may not testify.

Stormont said it is up to Assistant State's Attorney Robert Trone to prove if Bruce is guilty. Stormont said he would present evidence that Bruce and Mr. Hoffman were "good friends."

and offer an alibi for Bruce during the night of April 30.

The owner of Eddie's Lounge, James Dunn, and Jerry Demontmolin and Richard Coy, testified they played cards with Bruce and Mr. Hoffman at several locations, including the tavern and Mr. Hoffman's home and office. They said Bruce and Mr. Hoffman were friends and weren't angry when one of them lost playing cards.

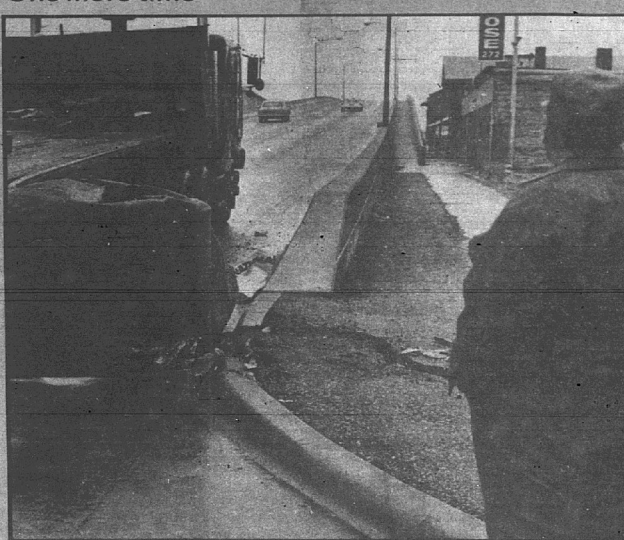

"I've never seen him (Bruce) angry at anyone," Demontmolin said.

He said Bruce once came to a card game with a money belt full of $100 bills. After losing the money, Bruce left the money belt hanging on a chair, Demontmolin said.

Also testifying were Mr. Hoffman's sons, Mike and Gene, one of his former wives, Belinda, and Bruce's mother, Dorothy. Mike Hoffman, 22, said Bruce

Council approves $50,000 per ward for street repairs

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The city's seven wards will each receive $50,000 for street repairs.

The City Council Tuesday approved a suggestion by 3rd Ward Alderman Jake Varadian to increase the amount from $30,000 to $50,000 per ward. The money will come from motor fuel tax funds.

Varadian said he learned from City Comptroller Joe Miklovic that there will be approximately $700,000 left in the motor fuel tax fund as of April 1988.

"I feel that this increase is justified and the city comptroller confirms that the funds are available," Varadian said.

The money would be used for repairs of streets, alleys, sidewalks, curbs and gutters, he said.

The $30,000 per ward last year was spent for resurfacing streets, said Superintendent of Streets Mac Warfield. The aldermen chose the streets to be resurfaced, Varadian said.

Some areas of town, such as East Granite City, don't have curbs or gutters, said 3rd Ward Alderman Paul Fisk.

The money, Varadian said, could be used to put in curbs, gutters and sidewalks instead of for street repair.

All of us have got some deficiencies in our area," said 1st Ward Alderman Casmer Skubish. "The need is in all of our wards."

Though not against spending the money, Seventh Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen suggested the money be divided based on the size of the ward. Worthen said there are more streets in his ward than in Varadian's.

School Board satisfied with superintendent

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The School Board is satisfied with Superintendent Gib Walmesley and offered him a new contract.

The board evaluated Walmesley's performance at a special meeting March 12. After the evaluation, held for about two hours in a closed meeting, the board offered Walmesley a one-year contract.

"It is the unanimous position of the board ... that Superintendent Walmesley has performed in an outstanding manner under circumstances which were difficult," Board President Kelly Hogan read from a prepared statement after the board reopened the meeting.

The evaluation was planned when Walmesley became superintendent last fall after the resignation of former District 9 Superintendent Sam Redmond. Redmond and some board members were at odds about hiring practices. Walmesley had been Granite City High School principal before being named superintendent.

Walmesley said he and the board agreed to a list of goals he was to achieve before the evaluation. The board evaluated Walmesley based on those goals. The goals were not released to the public until now.

The goals were:
Improve the Board of Education and superintendent relationship.
Work to improve the image of the district.
Implement a teacher assessment plan.
Develop a team approach to managing the district.
Work to ensure the success of the administrative staff.

New tax law hits port bond sales

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — New federal tax laws may make it harder for the Tri-City Regional Port District to sell bonds the district needs to pay off an improvement loan.

Because of the tax changes, the Port District board voted March 9 to hire a consultant to sell the $2.5 million in bonds.

Port District Director Bob Wydra told bond members it has been advised the new tax law will make bonds issued by the port ineligible for tax-exempt status. The port's bond issues in the past have been tax-exempt and easy to sell.

"Only a small part of the bond issue could be exempted" under the new law, Wydra said. "There would be no savings. We need someone who can place the bonds for us."

Wydra said the port had no problems selling tax-exempt bonds to local banks, but without the tax exemption the banks are reluctant to buy them.

"Since the change in the tax law, banks are not interested in buying bonds," Wydra said.

He recommended bond consultant Jim Jamison, of Virginia, to sell the bonds.

Jamison has helped the port with bond issues in the past and has extensive contacts in financial circles, Wydra said. The port plans to issue the bonds to pay off a $2.5 million interim loan from Continental Bank of Chicago. The loan paid for improvements at the port, which is on the Chain of Rocks Canal, and for the recent purchase of surplus Army land at the St. Louis Area Support Center adjacent to the port.

The improvements are nearly complete and the land transaction has been made.

Member, others to sue board if re-zoning wins acceptance

By Jack C. Ventimiglia
Executive Editor

PONTOON BEACH — Angry residents threaten to sue if the Village Board approves a special use permit allowing 125 mobile homes on Quality Sand Inc.'s property at Marigold Drive.

The Zoning Board of Appeals, in a 3-2 secret vote, on Monday approved a special use permit to allow the property to be rezoned from residential to allow for a mobile home park. The decision came despite objections by 246 petitioners.

Among those threatening to sue the Village Board is one of its members, Trustee Don Rea.

"If I can't get the Village Board to consider the wishes of the people in this neighborhood, I'll sue the board personally," he said Tuesday.

Also Tuesday, several residents living near the planned development met in a home to formulate a response to the ZBA's action.

"I have been talking to a lawyer," said Evelyn Venenky at 4111.

She and five other residents may seek donations from the petitioners opposing the development, but she said she would first check to see if the prominent Granite City attorney with whom she's spoken will take the case at no charge. She declined to identify the lawyer.

At issue is a ZBA decision to allow the owner of Quality Sand, Don Peacock, to add 125 mobile homes to a development that may already be approved for 200 mobile homes. Residents near the proposed development said their property values will decline, traffic would be too heavy on Marigold Drive and a 100-foot-deep pond should be fenced to keep out children.

"The traffic flow is going to be through this whole subdivision and it concerns everyone," said Sandra Bristol, 1 Tulip Court.

The map of the trailer park makes it appear Marigold Drive is the intended accessway, Rea said.

ZBA President Lee Ridgeway said he opposed the variance because of concern about Marigold Drive traffic.

"I think there's going to be other access besides Marigold," Mayor Glen Wilson said.

An option may be to close the drive at the end of the subdivision to stop traffic from going through the subdivision, but Wilson said there's been no decision.

The pond on the property poses a danger, Rea said. Wilson agreed, but said it is on private property and the village has been told in the past that it could not force the owner to fence it.

Concerning property values, Rea agreed with residents that a trailer park would hurt the subdivision.

Wilson, though saying residents should be concerned, disagreed with Rea. He said village codes would be followed.

"I personally don't think it's going to lower their property values," he said.

Still at issue is whether the 200 trailers approved for the property are allowable. The ordinance to approve the trailers was passed in 1972, but Rea said he doesn't think taxes on the property have been paid to include trailer park zoning. If not, he said, a new application for the 200 trailers may have to be sought.

Zoning board vote may have violated law

PONTOON BEACH — The law was probably violated when the Zoning Board of Appeals took a secret ballot during a closed meeting Monday.

In public, board members wrote down their votes about a zoning variance, but refused to tell how individual members voted when the public asked. The public was told the variance was accepted by a 3-2 vote.

A secret ballot, though taken in public session, violates the Illinois Open Meetings Act, said Phil Mueller, a spokesman with the Illinois Attorney General's Office, Springfield.

"You cannot take a secret ballot for a decision on a vote like that," he said Tuesday.

"That's against the (Illinois) Open Meetings Act." ZBA President Lee Ridgeway said board members didn't know they couldn't take secret ballots. He said it has been a standard practice and how members voted is always made public by the Village Board at its meeting.

He said the matter will be discussed with Village Attorney Keith Jensen.

Voting against the variance were Ridgeway and Floyd Ridgeway. For the variance were Carl Horstmeier, Veronica Kelley and Neva Lucas.

Lee Ridgeway opposed the measure because, he said, the traffic on Marigold Drive would likely increase.

Rival plans for use of Dunbar

By Donna Kimbro
Staff writer

MADISON — Two plans for use of the former Dunbar School were discussed at a heated public meeting Tuesday night.

School Board President John Hamm said the special meeting was called after he received a petition signed by 173 residents who wanted to meet with the board. There were over 35 people present.

Two groups interested in obtaining ownership of the school property met with the board for three hours to present their proposals.

Both the Concerned Citizens and Henry Baucum, an independent developer, said they want to convert the building into a senior citizen housing complex. Each said they would use the gymnasium as a meeting hall for social events and recreation purposes for both adults and children.

Dunbar alumni who formed the Concerned Citizens voiced their interest in the building several months ago. They have met for over a year to find a way to seek federal grant funds for extensive renovation work.

Baucum, a resident of the area, said he is prepared to bid if there is an auction of the property. He said he would convert the facility into senior citizen apartments and would operate it as a business.

Norris Horton, a Madison alderman, as spokesman for the Concerned Citizens said they must have site control to apply for funding and the only way they can get this is if the city assumes the responsibility for the school area and gives the group a six-month option.

The delegation addressed Garrett and said if he had attended their meetings they would have known earlier the steps to take to make application for funds. A woman said, "You did not come to one meeting and it was not until Mr. Horton agreed to attend and help us that we learned how to proceed."

The board will discuss Dunbar tonight at its regular meeting.

Horton said, "The city is only intervening in this to allow the Concerned Citizens time to find financing. I want it known the city did not approach us. We approached the city."

In closing, Hamm said, "I have learned tonight that it is costing the Board of Education $6,000 a year for utilities and $4,000 a year for insurance. We cannot continue to pay this money and the board will have to move for an immediate solution to the problem."

Other board members have cited concern about potential health and safety hazards at the building, adding they have "waited long enough for a solution." They are not against a citizen group providing senior citizen housing, but said they felt scheduling of an auction would expedite the disposition of the idle school.

Registration scheduled at St. Elizabeth's

Kindergarten registration will take place March 30 to April 3 at the St. Elizabeth School office, or families may register after Masses on April 4 and 5.

At the time of registration, they will need a birth certificate, baptismal record (unless on file at St. Elizabeth's) and a $50 book fee. The child will be scheduled for testing at a later date.

The school will also accept other grade registrations.

A new kindergarten pupil must be 5 by Oct. 1, 1987; however, this can be waived if the child has a fifth birthday in October and passes the required testing.

Acceptance will be on a first come, first served basis.

Residents resist boxcar housing

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — Proposed conversion of 30 boxcars into 15 residential duplexes in the 600 block of Fillmore Avenue drew protests and some angry remarks at Tuesday night's City Council meeting.

Location of the construction site on former railroad property at the south end of Seventh Street brought 25 residents to the meeting. Most live in the 2nd Ward.

Traffic congestion in the area and potential fire hazards within the steel-frame units also worried residents.

About 250 people concerned the boxcar homes might lower property values signed a petition "expressing disapproval" of the project, according to Silver Franklin.

"We feel boxcar homes in such a small area will be a detriment to another (housing) project. We are putting money into our homes and this will take the value down," said Franklin, who lives at 518 Washington Ave., two blocks from the construction site.

"I keep hearing this hullabaloo about the value of homes will go down. Which homes are we talking about? How many homes there are valued at $30,000?" Mayor Tyrone Echols asked.

"Mine is," several people in the audience replied.

"There is no zoning ordinance in this town and these (boxcar homes) are no worse than having trailers (mobile homes) in the community."

A trailer (mobile home) weighs about 15,000 pounds. Each of these (units) weighs 30,000 pounds and is worth $30,000," the mayor said. Echols estimated more than $12,000 a year in property taxes from the new housing units would benefit the city.

Echols vigorously defended the council's March 3 action in unanimously approving 15 building permits, which gave the go-ahead for construction.

The issue had been tabled from the Feb. 17 council session when several questions were raised by aldermen about permits issued for other boxcar units located in the 1500 block of Market Street.

At that time, 2nd Ward Alderman Hank Svevia asked whether sufficient ground is being allowed per unit.

Echols chided Franklin and others in the audience, saying, "This has been stumbling along for six months now. Where were you all two weeks ago?"

"After holding it up for two weeks, you come here tonight. You should have been getting up here that night."

"You've been here three meetings in a row. You are an intelligent young guy; why didn't you say something then?" Echols asked Franklin.

"I had to investigate it. I want to stop it where it exists right now," Franklin responded. "Like you said, there is nothing on the books now governing boxcars, but you can't stop the future. I'm asking what's going to happen in that future."

"There is no way in the world I am going to stop this development as much as the money is needed by this city," the mayor said. "This tonight is like closing the gate after the horse is gone."

Gladys Brown, of 509 Fillmore Ave., cited what she regarded as potential dangers with the proposed boxcar homes being placed on 25-foot lots. Dimensions of the Fillmore Avenue property are 330 feet by 125 feet.

"Crowding them up is not good. It will congest the area and it's not good in the case of a fire. People could be trapped inside and the firemen couldn't chop through those walls to save someone. The fire trucks couldn't get between them, either," Brown said.

"These are safer than a trailer. There are windows and the doors are wood," the mayor replied. "I'm telling you a trailer on a 25-foot lot is not as stable as these."

Questioned by a woman in the audience on the legality of putting a structure on a 25-foot lot, Echols replied, "Our building inspector signed it (permit)." Not to grant the permit because someone doesn't like that type of dwelling could be discriminatory and result in legal proceedings, the mayor said.

Third Ward Alderman George Lewis said the only way any construction can be stopped is if the state fire marshal decrees the buildings are too close together.

"Franklin said he would have a survey made at his own expense to determine if the proposed construction would lower the value of neighborhood homes."

After considerable debate involving the audience, restricting the number of homes per lot was again brought up. "I can understand your qualms about that, but I'm getting two things — there are too many in the area or you want them outlawed altogether."

"They may be a novelty here, but I've seen a display unit in Edwardsville and they are pretty decent. We are talking about homes, not boxcars, and I'm sure this man has had surveys from HUD, FHA and the state safety people," the mayor said.

"The only things I'm hearing are personal feelings, not what is lawful. Can you show me where it is unlawful? I am duty-bound to work within the framework of the law. If the reservations you have can be founded, I'll work with you on it," Echols said.

"I had the same problems with the Bissell Street Apartments (construction) and they have brought in thousands of dollars in tax money."

"We have an eroding tax base here and it is my job and the council's job to bring projects into the community to help that eroding base. I think the council voted for this in good faith," Echols said.

Shoney's rezoning delayed by city plan commission

By Bill Bagby
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — A decision was not reached Thursday by the city's plan commission for the rezoning of four lots at Richmond Avenue and Nameoki Road for the construction of a Shoney's Restaurant.

The commission's meeting was continued to 7 p.m. Thursday, March 26, at City Hall, 2000 Edison Ave., when a decision is expected to be reached.

Shoney's had requested the four lots be rezoned from residential to highway commercial. Four other lots at the location are zoned commercial. Shoney's has an option to purchase the eight lots.

About 35 residents, mostly of Richmond Avenue and Fair Oaks Drive, attended the meeting. Six residents spoke out against the restaurant, saying it would be too close to residential areas, would cause traffic problems on Richmond and would add problems to the area's storm water sewers. One person spoke in favor of Shoney's. Shoney's officials said they would cooperate with the residents, city building inspector John Jakich said Friday.

"I think something can be worked out," Jakich said. "They are the same people who built Lee's Chicken and they cooperated with us 100 percent."

The location for the proposed restaurant was chosen because of good highway access and "more than adequate buffer area" between business and residential areas, said John Hogg of Otis & Clark Properties, a St. Louis brokerage firm representing Shoney's.

"We've been looking at Granite City for a long time," Hogg said.

Final approval of the rezoning must come from the City Council.

Inspection of Shoney's site slated today

GRANITE CITY — An on-site inspection meeting at the location of a proposed Shoney's restaurant, Richmond Avenue and Nameoki Road, is slated for 5:30 p.m. today (Thursday).

Shoney's representatives, Mayor Von Dee Cruise, aldermen of the ward, plan commission members and other city officials will be in attendance.

Residents who could be affected by the zoning change requested by Shoney's are invited to attend. Shoney's wants four lots at the site rezoned from residential to highway commercial.

Gabriel hired for shop design

By Dave Gosnell
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Granite City architect Henry Gabriel was hired last week by the School Board to design the high school's new automotive shop and the expansion and resurfacing of parking lots and entrances at the high school and the adjacent Coolidge Junior High.

Gabriel will be paid 5 percent of the auto shop's construction costs and 5 percent of the construction costs of the parking lots and roadways.

No bids were sought for the contract. Though no final estimates on the projects' costs have been given, Gabriel gave a preliminary estimate of about $25,000 for the shop. The entire project has been estimated at about $600,000.

That figure is expected to change as more detailed drawings are made.

The shop and the new parking spaces are tentatively to be built for use this fall.

Gabriel also will help arrange for the call for construction bids.

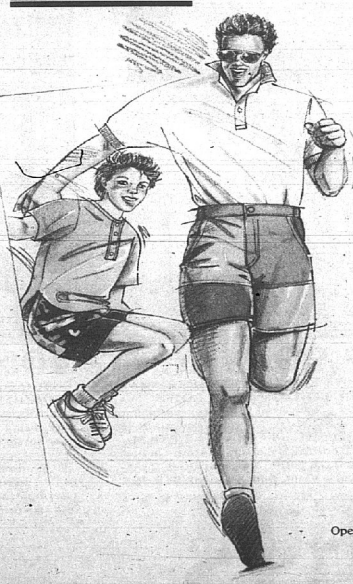

The preliminary plans call for the shop to be an addition to the school's vocational building. The shop will allow automotive students to test and work on cars indoors, an option not now available.

The shop and the parking lots will be paid for from the past sale of district school buildings.

Luke 12:31 "Bless ye first the Kingdom of God and all these other things shall be added unto you."

Many people today are worried about the economy. They are concerned about their jobs and what they will do about tomorrow. It is true there are many things that we could be concerned about. The world around us is in a turmoil. It seems everyday the news gets worse. We wonder where it will all end.

Yet, if you are a child of God, born again through his spirit, you need not worry. The Bible teaches us that if we put our spiritual welfare first and be concerned about pleasing God in all things, He will take care of everything else for us. We can rest in Jesus, knowing that He will keep his Word. So, if you must be concerned about something, let it be whether or not you are living a life that is pleasing to God. When we live the life that is pleasing to God, we can leave everything else to Him, for he knows what you have need of.

Start trusting him.

Edgar wants DUI repeaters subject to prison sentences

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois Secretary of State Jim Edgar stepped up his crusade against drunk drivers March 12, calling for legislation that would potentially subject third-time Driving Under the Influence (DUI) offenders to prison terms.

Edgar also called for a five-year loss of license for two DUI convictions and a 10-year revocation for three or more drunk driving convictions.

Current law provides a one-year period of license revocation regardless of the number of offenses.

Madison County State's Attorney Dick Allen questioned Edgar's proposal to make three-time or more DUI offenders into felons subject to prison terms.

"I don't think the judges are going to put anybody in the Department of Corrections for this," Allen said. "We already have a mandate to send certain defendants to intensive supervision because of maximum crowding in the state prisons."

"The prisons are chock full now. It's a good show for Edgar and he's obviously running for governor, but many of these people (repeat DUI offenders) have got a disease," Allen said.

He said he believed most people who got their first DUI charge in Madison County "have a tendency to get their act together" unless "they have a real sickness" (are alcoholics).

Allen indicated he agreed with Edgar's proposal to have longer license "revocations" for repeat DUI offenders and tougher penalties for those driving on revoked licenses.

"That makes some sense. I can see that being effective," he said. Neither Edgar's office nor Allen could provide figures on the number of repeat DUI offenders in Madison County.

A spokesman for Edgar, however, said the percentage of repeat offenders in Madison County was 26 percent, compared to the statewide average of 22 percent.

The two highest blood alcohol test levels ever recorded in the state, according to the Illinois Department of Public Health, were made by persons charged with DUI in this county.

Edgar said statewide there are now about 9,000 Illinois drivers with three or more DUI convictions and about 27,000 with two DUIs on their records.

Persons arrested for DUI automatically have driving privileges suspended for at least 30 days, starting 45 days after an arrest, under a tough law pushed by Edgar that went into effect Jan. 1 of last year.

But Edgar contended Thursday it is still not tough enough on repeat offenders.

"The driver license penalty is the same, whether it is a first offense or a fifth offense, and that is not fair," Edgar said.

In addition to the longer license revocation periods, Edgar called for a third DUI conviction to be a Class 4 felony carrying a penalty of up to three years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Under current law, all DUIs are misdemeanor offenses, although a second or more conviction carries a mandatory 48 consecutive-hour jail sentence or 10 days of community service work.

Edgar is also pushing a bill to increase the penalty for a first-time charge of driving while a license is revoked (when it results from a DUI, reckless homicide or leaving the scene of an injury accident) to a 90-day jail sentence or 364 days of public service work. The current penalty is up to seven days in jail or 30 days of public service.

Second or subsequent driving with a revoked license would continue to be Class 4 felonies.

A third bill being pushed by Edgar would outlaw fake ID cards which look like driver licenses.

It would bar manufacture of cards resembling a genuine Illinois driver license or ID card and require disclaimers in large block type.

MAN FACES THREE CHARGES

AFTER INCIDENT AT SEMC
George D. Hansel, 22, of 2921 Oakmont Drive, Pontoon Beach, was charged March 14 by Granite City police with disorderly conduct, resisting arrest and unlawful possession of cannabis.

Hansel allegedly yelled profanity in the emergency room of St. Elizabeth Medical Center, struggled with officers while being removed, and had a bag containing cannabis in his shirt pocket.

TAPES, CAMERA STOLEN

Richard Day, 2819 Edwards St., said March 10 a burglar entered his car while it was parked on a lot at 20th Street and Delmar Avenue. Taken were two cassette tapes, a camera valued at $100 and film.

WARRANTS BEING SOUGHT

Warrants alleging driving with a suspended license, leaving the scene of an accident with property damage, failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident, and fleeing and attempting to elude police are being sought against Cary H. Whitehead, 33, of Dover, Tenn., following an accident at 9:35 p.m. March 6. There was $1,000 damage to a lowered railroad gate at 20th and Quincy streets.

MAN SERVED 3 WARRANTS

Charles D. Longo, 19, of 2133 Ohio Ave. was served two Granite City warrants March 11 alleging forgery and a Pontoon Beach warrant alleging disorderly conduct. He was also ticketed for driving with a suspended license at 18th and Benton streets. Bail for Longo was set at $508.

THREE INJURED IN MISHAP

POLICE CAR STRUCK ENROUTE
Clifford Buford, 76, and Faye Buford, 76, both of 2027 Lee Ave., were injured when their car collided with an auto driven by Tanya M. Trout, 19, of 2265 Lee, at 4:50 p.m. March 11 at 23rd Street and Madison Avenue. Trout and Mrs. Buford were taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center by ambulance following the mishap.

A police car enroute to the accident, driven by Officer Randall A. Parks, 37, was struck at 4:52 p.m. in the 2300 block of Madison Avenue by a station wagon driven by Patricia A. Penrose, 28, of St. Peters. Mo.

MAN ARRESTED FOR BATTERY

Timothy W. Werner, 24, of 2111 Lincoln Ave. was arrested March 15 for battery. He allegedly slapped Linda Lindsey about the face and tried to choke her. He was released upon posting $102 cash bail.

CAR DAMAGED BY FIRE

MOTORIST IS ARRESTED
A fire caused $1,000 damage March 14 to an auto owned by Michael G. Baggot, 30, of 2650 Edison Ave. Baggot told police he was driving in the 2700 block of Madison Avenue when the auto caught on fire. The blaze, confined to the engine compartment, started when the car backfired, firemen said.

Officers charged Baggot with driving with a revoked license and illegal transportation of alcohol after they allegedly found three partly full beer cans in the auto. He was released after posting $102 cash bail.

MOTORCYCLIST, PASSENGER

BOOKED ON EIGHT CHARGES
After seeing a motorcyclist apparently traveling east in the wrong lane of 18th Street at 2:35 a.m. March 14, an officer stopped the vehicle in the 1400 block of Madison Avenue and arrested the driver, Joseph B. Wilkinson, 22, of 2155 Waterman Ave., and his passenger, Andrew J. Matyas, 22, of 4734 Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach.

Wilkinson reportedly began struggling with two officers when advised he was under arrest. He was charged with resisting arrest, injury to city property, riding a motorcycle without special equipment and illegal possession of alcohol.

Wilkinson was charged with driving while his license was suspended, improper lane usage, driving a motorcycle without special equipment and illegal transportation of alcohol.

MAN INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Delbert N. Winters, 37, of 2902 Denver St. was injured at 4:28 p.m. March 15 when his auto collided with a car driven by Ruby Walker, 63, of 1864 Poplar St. The accident occurred in front of Walker's home.

GARAGE BURGLAR GETS TOOLS

A burglar removed a window to enter a garage at the home of Raquel Penny, 1838 Olive St., and stole a grey tool box containing assorted hand tools. A two-ton power jack, an ax, bench grinder, power saw and battery charger were also taken.

Q. I am getting ready to purchase my first Certificate of Deposit and am really excited about finally investing in my future. However, I am not a math whiz. How long will it take for me to double my investment?

A. The answer to your question depends on the rate of interest you will be earning on the investment and how the interest is compounded. However, a good rule of thumb is the old 72 division rule. To determine how long it takes to double your investment, divide the number 72 by the rate of interest you will be earning. For example, if the CD you purchased had an interest-earning rate of 5.30%, you would double your money in 13.58 years... 72 divided by 5.30. Of course, this assumes the original investment remained in a CD earning 5.30%. If interest rates increased and you reinvested the funds in a higher-earning CD when your present CD became due, the time required to double your money would be decreased.

Sightings prompt officials to move hunt for leopard

By Bill Milligan
Staff writer

EAST CARONDELET — Authorities may shift the focus of their search, for the leopard that has been stalking this community since December, to include the bluffs area east of Dupu.

Three sightings at the beginning of the month have narrowed the search for the cat's lair, officials said.

Federal animal control officer Ron Ogden said last week that prints discovered at an abandoned rock quarry on Stollie Road are the most positive evidence uncovered in the search for the cat.

"These prints are definitely from the hind leg of a large cat," Ogden said after following a trail of cat prints for half a mile through the muddy quarry.

"What is encouraging is we see here fresh prints, made within the last 24 hours, and prints right next to them several days old," Ogden said. "The cat must spend a lot of time up here."

East Carondelet Mayor Herb Simmons, St. Clair County Animal Control Director Tom Amundson and Ogden were in a meeting last week to determine whether to re-locate traps that were placed around East Carondelet to catch the leopard. Ogden said traps are being lost or stolen from locations where sightings are most frequent.

During the meeting, Simmons received a call from Jerry Roth, a district trustee for the Prairie Du Pont fire department.

Roth and his wife, Trudy, sighted the leopard sunning itself on a levy near their home on March 3 at about 2:30 p.m.

"I was one of the more skeptical ones when it came to that cat," said Trudy Roth. "I saw it on the levy and watched it about 15 minutes before my husband asked me what I was looking at."

Roth saw the leopard through his gun sight and began to approach it.

When it ran from the levy, he called authorities.

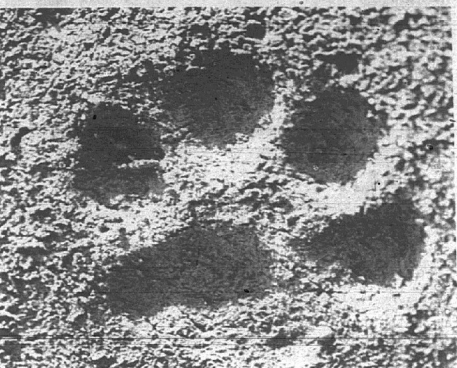

"I was just trying to do my civic duty," Roth said. "I'm not interested in a lot of publicity."

Roth said the leopard appeared again on the levy on March 4, apparently sunning itself.

"I noticed the gloss of its coat in the sunlight," said Mrs. Roth. "It was there again the next day when I brought the kids home from school. We haven't seen it since."

Based on the Roth sightings, authorities began searching area rock quarries for signs of the cat.

The result was some of the clearest prints taken of the animal to date.

PAW PRINT: Authorities claim this paw print was made the same day this photo was taken. The print, and feces found in the area, should lead to identification of the much sought animal.

The cat was sighted in the bluff area again on March 7 by Anna Dugan of rural East Carondelet.

"It was in my back yard close to a tree house my kids used to play in," Dugan said. "My dog was barking out the window. When I looked to see what it was barking about, I noticed the cat."

Dugan said the cat stood in her back yard for several minutes before looking at the dog and running away.

"It was big," Dugan said. "It was black."

Animal control officials last week asked residents who see the cat to make prompt reports to East Carondelet officials.

A sighting at the 13-mile marker of Interstate 255 on March 6 was not reported until four days later, according to Illinois State Police officials.

Simmons said an increase in sightings could prompt Ogden to bring tracking dogs to the area in hopes of finding the cat.

Bidwill hands off to McNary

By Buck Collier
Staff writer

ST. LOUIS — Football Cardinals owner Bill Bidwill gave St. Louis County Executive Gene McNary more than a gift when he handed him an official National Football League football March 12.

"Gene," Bidwill said, "you now have the ball."

Indeed, the ball is McNary's to run with or drop. There will be no handoffs or passes.

When Bidwill did what McNary said had to be done—signed a commitment to move his team to a stadium in the county—the football Cardinals owner in effect told McNary to put up or shut up. McNary said Bidwill's commitment is the key to getting investors for a domed stadium in Maryland Heights. An announcement about investors should come within two weeks, he said.

Developers William L. Bruce and Joe Mason were identified as potential investors in the stadium project. Plans for financing the stadium include the use of "about $30 million in private money and about $100 million in industrial development bonds."

The degree to which Bidwill's letter of intent will affect the tug-of-war between the county and the city of St. Louis depends on with whom you talk.

McNary said the squabble is over. Mayor Vincent C. Schoemehl Jr. thinks otherwise.

"More has been made of the so-called fight than is true," McNary said. "We don't view this as any kind of competition with the city of St. Louis. Our purpose is to see we work this important community asset."

McNary promised to work with Schoemehl to expand Cervantes Convention Center downtown, adding the county isn't trying to get a piece of the convention trade.

Though no major counteroffer is expected from the city under its voters decide the fate of two tax issues, Schoemehl plans to fight to keep the taxes, said Ed Bushmeyer, the mayor's press secretary.

Bushmeyer said getting investors remains a major hurdle for McNary. So, too, he said, is the offense that's expected to be raised by environmental groups.

"That settlement didn't resolve anything" regarding a stadium, Bushmeyer said. He was referring to the out-of-court settlement last week between environmental groups and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

The settlement clears the way for the development of Riverport, a 500-acre industrial, commercial and retail project at Interstate 70 and the Earth City Expressway. The stadium would be located on about 100 of the acres.

However, the court settlement carried the provision that environmental groups could challenge the stadium proposed with in Riverport.

McNary discounts such a challenge as a stumbling block and vowed to preserve the environmental integrity of the surrounding area.

"We have every intention of making that project environmentally sound," he said.

SAUGET — Monsanto officials began seeking a meeting with the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency after the IEPA threatened a suit last week against the W. G. Krueger plant.

Controversy arose about what the IEPA claims is Monsanto's refusal to make suggested improvements in cooling systems at the plant.

"While Monsanto has been cooperative in some aspects, they did not want to redesign their cooling system," said IEPA spokesman Will Flower on March 12 from the agency's Springfield office.

"The expansion joints are at the center of the controversy," Flower said.

The IEPA recommended several revisions in plant operations after a March 3, 1986 accident that allowed chlorosulfonic acid to escape into the atmosphere through a failed expansion joint. IEPA records show a similar accident occurred Nov. 30, 1985.

Flower said the IEPA would like to see an outside engineering firm examine the expansion joints and propose safer alternatives to the present cooling system.

The emission caused 16 Alton and Southern Railroad employees and one Monsanto employee to require medical attention, Flower said.

The IEPA asked Attorney General Neil Hartigan to file suit against Monsanto March 9. It claims chlorosulfonic gas presents a deadly hazard to area residents. Monsanto officials last week claimed outside engineering firms had examined the cooling system and found it to be the safest alternative, said spokesman Andrea Smith.

Smith said on site inspection of the company by the Pfaunder Co. of Rochester, N.Y., had convinced the company their system was the safest one available.

Pfaunder Co. manufactures glass pipes used in the process of making chlorosulfonic acid, Smith said. They have nothing to do with the cooling process, she said.

Monsanto presented its final report on the cooling system to the IEPA on Feb. 3. Smith said the plant had not heard again from the IEPA until it asked Hartigan to file suit.

"We have been open and responsive with IEPA and have provided the agency with all of the information they have asked for," said Jack Malloy, plant manager.

"At no time in the process did we have any indication that the IEPA was dissatisfied or unhappy with the progress," he said.

Malloy said that eliminating the expansion joints would not decrease chances of another incident.

CAHOKIA — Holy Family School reopened this week in a new building.

School will move to Pitzman School, on Mississippi Avenue, just a mile away from the building parish inclement decided to abandon on March 9.

Councilmen decided to condemn the 42-year-old school and vacate the building at 116 E. First St. after the northeast wall began to creep noticeably away from the rest of the building.

Father Louis Peterson said last week that cracks in the wall began widening in October after a leaky pipe alerted maintenance people of the danger.

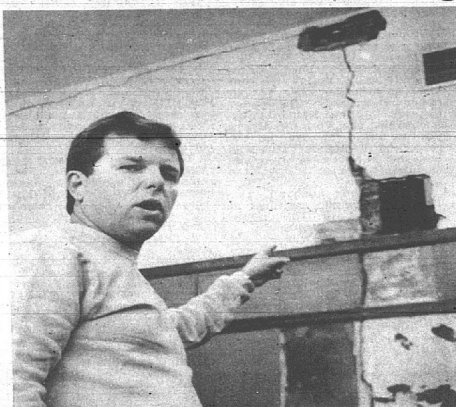

"From what I'm told, there's always been some cracks, but since last summer they've gotten worse," Peterson said. Peterson came to the parish in July.

He said plumbers drilled into walls to replace the broken pipe and discovered bricks of a mushy consistency.

"I don't know if the wall caused the pipe to break, or if it leaked for a long time and caused the wall to settle," Peterson said. "The parish council wasn't going to take any chances."

Alerted to the danger, the church hired architects to take samples of the wall structure during the Christmas and Martin Luther King holidays. Architects who examined the structure said the wall would be unsafe if it crept another 1/4-inch away from the floor inside.

Experts said the building would cost more to repair than to rebuild.

WHGK Inc., of Belleville, made its report on the situation at the parish's March 9 meeting. Peterson estimated the wall moved 1/4-inch between the time the leak was discovered and the council decided to vacate the school.

"They decided not to take any chances and not wait for it to move anymore," Peterson said.

Classes were held in the school's gymnasium on Tuesday.

District 187 school officials offered to lease the Pitzman School to the Catholic school if the Catholics agreed to install a fire-alarm system at Pitzman.

School officials announced the move Tuesday night.

By Wednesday, Peterson was swamped with volunteers. "The support of the people is just tremendous," Peterson said. "Some of these men have taken their vacations to come here and help with the move."

Peterson said the parish would spend about $600,000 to build a new school on property near the church.

"We have to test the ground to find where the firmest soil is located," Peterson said. "That will determine where we build."

Peterson hopes to raise at least half of the money for a new building through fund-raising efforts. The rest, he said, Belleville diocese may provide as a 6-percent loan.

"We hope to have it under roof by next winter," Peterson said. No fund-raisers are planned yet, but Peterson said the church has already received $189,000 in donations.

"I was packing things into a truck and an elderly couple drove up and handed us a check for $500," Peterson said. "They said they couldn't help us move, but they wanted to help with the new school."

If the very mention of "W-4" strikes terror into your heart, fear no more. Illinois W-4 withholding form, and it is painless.

The Illinois Department of Revenue which rewrote the state W-4 to make instructions easier to understand, is advising taxpayers to fill out a new IL-W-4 to achieve more accurate income tax withholding.

"Nobody in Illinois has to change their state withholding, as they must for the federal government," said Revenue Director Ronald D. Sweet. "But even if you don't have to, this is a great opportunity to update your records."

A W-4 is a bookkeeping tool which allows an employer to withhold a certain amount of tax from each paycheck; the idea is to get as close to the final tax liability as possible.

Most people fill out an IL-W-4 when beginning a new job and seldom think about adjusting their withholding, even though their personal situation may change through the years, Sweet said.

The Federal Internal Revenue Service requires all taxpayers to complete a new, more complex U.S. W-4 before Oct. 1 to reflect changes created by federal tax reform.

The Illinois individual income tax return has not changed, however, and most Illinois taxpayers will not need to change their state withholding because of federal tax changes.

"Nonetheless, as long as a person has to fill out a federal W-4, it's a good time to fill out another state W-4," Sweet said. Forms are available at all company bookkeeping or personnel offices.

"A lot of people like to list 'zero' exemptions, which means a greater amount of tax will be withheld from each paycheck, because they're afraid of owing additional tax at the end of the year," Sweet said.

"That might be a legitimate fear on the more complicated federal taxes. It's not a good practice in Illinois, though. We have a low, flat 2.5 percent rate. Our withholding tables are quite accurate."

"Our advice is this: put down one exemption for every member of your immediate household."

It is all right for taxpayers to list a different number of exemptions on the federal and state W-4s, Sweet said.

Anyone needing assistance may call the Department of Revenue at 1-217-782-3338, or toll-free in Illinois at 1-800-732-8866.

THE LAW AND YOU

Sometimes employees inquire whether they are entitled to unemployment benefits if they voluntarily leave their job. The answer to this question depends upon their reason for leaving their employment. Illinois law provides that an employee will be ineligible for unemployment insurance benefits if he voluntarily leaves his job without good cause attributable to the employer.

What if an employer increases the worker's job duties without the employee's consent? In such a situation, many workers will claim that the resulting job-related pressures affect their health, is an employee allowed to resign his position under such circumstances and still be entitled to unemployment benefits?

In one recent case, an employee was hired as a tool grinder. Approximately one year later, his job duties were increased to include the tasks of tool room attendant and equipment washer. Later, an apprentice job and the worker was given an even greater work load.

The worker complained about the increased job duties, but the employer told him that it was a small shop and he should be willing to do the additional work. Eventually the employee quit the job, primarily because he felt the increased job duties adversely affected his health. The employee applied for unemployment benefits, claiming that a physician had deemed him physically unable to perform his work. He also maintained that the substantial changes in his work load constituted "good cause" for leaving his employment. The employer opposed his claim for benefits.

The Appellate Court in this case found that the employee was in fact ineligible for unemployment benefits. They held that the physician's statement was insufficient to establish that he was physically unable to perform the work. In addition, the Court felt that the additional duties assigned to the worker did not result in such a substantial job change as to constitute "good cause" for leaving the employment.

The result in this case may have been different if the physician had stated more emphatically that the employee could not perform the work. Likewise, the Appellate Court may have allowed the employee to collect unemployment if his job duties had clearly become intolerable as a result of the change in job description. This case does indicate that an employee who leaves his job voluntarily will have a difficult time convincing a Court that he left his job for "good cause" attributable to the employer.

Presidential contender praises the president

By Buck Collier
Staff writer

ST. LOUIS — Virtually everyone at a Republican Party fundraiser at West Port Plaza last week was smiling. Everyone, that is, but the Sheraton Inn's bartenders who were working, but doing little work.

Considering the featured speaker, it's not surprising there wasn't much liquor sold. Television evangelist and presidential hopeful Pat Robertson uses a different kind of spirit to motivate his audience.

And motivated they were, interrupting Robertson's speech several times with applause. The crowd of about 400, who paid $25 a ticket to the party of Missouri Republicans, heard Robertson talk on a variety of issues.

Robertson defended the Reagan administration's efforts in the Iran-Contra affair, rejecting claims that it's a "scandal." Rather, he said, the issue is this country's lack of attention to communist aggression.

"Congress of the United States and the nation's press isn't doing anything to liberate this world from communism; that's the scandal," Robertson said.

He pointed out that during President Ronald Reagan's tenure, no country has gone communist.

Robertson then settled into a more conventional political rhetoric.

"Ronald Reagan has made us proud to be Americans again," he said, citing lower inflation and interest rates and more jobs created.

Robertson drew the loudest applause when he talked about the education system, saying it's "failing. The kids of America are not impaired; the educational system is what's impaired."

Though the crowd obviously was staunchly Republican, a fact noted in the opening prayer, there was at least one conspicuous Democrat in attendance: St. Louis City Aldermanic President Tom Zych.

Zych said he attended the fund-raiser strictly as "a citizen" who wanted to hear Robertson.

Warning up the crowd for Robertson's arrival, U.S. Rep. Jack Buechner, R-Kirkwood, Buechner, becoming known for his one-liners, got a laugh at the expense of fellow Missouri congressman, Democratic presidential hopeful Richard Gephardt.

"You might wonder what a Missouri congressman is doing here (in St. Louis)," Buechner said. "We're supposed to be in Iowa."

AIDS hotline getting calls

Approximately a dozen calls a day are coming into the Madison County AIDS Prevention Program information line.

The toll-free phone line at 1-800-345-2363 began March 2 and is staffed from 9 a.m. until noon, Monday through Friday.

"Many callers have questions about transmission of the HIV virus which causes AIDS," said Tony Miller, coordinator for the program. "Other callers are requesting the HIV-antibody test," he added.

The HIV-antibody test is a blood test which shows that an individual has or has not come in contact with the virus, he explained.

The laboratory at St. Elizabeth Medical Center in Granite City is the first lab in Madison County to participate in the HIV-antibody testing component of the program.

Other sites for the blood test are being set up in different areas of the county and should be in operation in the near future, Miller said.

Overlooked deductions mean taxpayers cheat themselves

Taxpayers can guard against missing deductions to which they are entitled by taking five simple steps, says the Society of Certified Public Accountants.

Before tackling their returns, taxpayers should determine whether or not to itemize, accurately calculate charitable deductions, add up miscellaneous business expenses, check to see if they qualify for income averaging, and consider the benefits of professional tax preparation.

Those who can cut their tax bills by itemizing their deductions — charitable contributions, medical expenses, interest expense, state and local sales taxes and real estate taxes — include: single individuals with deductions totaling more than $2,480; married couples filing jointly with deductions of more than $3,670; and married individuals filing separately with deductions of more than $1,835.

Taxpayers should also determine whether or not to itemize deductions. The zero bracket amount is equal to the minimum amounts used to calculate whether or not one should itemize. These minimum amounts are built into the tax tables so that you automatically receive the deduction when you compute taxes.

This leads to the next step. Taxpayers accurately should calculate their charitable contributions. Most people know that if they give money to a charity, they can take a full deduction, no matter whether or not they itemize. But, did you give more than money?

If you have given clothes to a thrift store or furniture to a bazaar, you may qualify for an additional deduction. On the other end of the spectrum, don't forget the incidental expenses incurred for your charity. If you mailed important letters to your charitable organization, don't forget the cost of the stationery and postage. And, if you travel to and from a charitable event or meeting, you can deduct the cost of mass transportation or 12 cents per mile for driving. Tolls and parking fees also can be deducted.

One word of caution: Before you start adding up your contributions, make sure the organizations that you helped are tax-exempt.

A third step toward saving taxes is to total all your miscellaneous business expenses. Did you take a class last year to improve your job skills? As long as it was necessary to maintain and improve your current job skills, and does not qualify you for a new trade or business, you also can deduct the full cost. In your calculations, you also can deduct the cost of traveling from work to class.

Many people need to keep abreast of all the new issues affecting their particular careers. Subscriptions to periodicals and trade publications are also tax deductible.

Did you look for a new job in your field last year? If so, you can take a deduction for your job-hunting expenses even if you did not take a new job. This includes the cost of preparing resumes, phone calls, mailings, traveling to and from interviews and fees for employment agencies and career counselors. Keep in mind that most deductions for miscellaneous business expenses may be more limited in 1987.

Now look at your income. Did it increase significantly over the previous year? If so, and if your salary also increased markedly over the past three years, you may want to consider income averaging. A fourth step in saving tax dollars is to calculate whether you are eligible to file Schedule G for income averaging.

First, figure your taxes for 1986 as if you were not going to average your income. Then, review your returns for 1983, 1984 and 1985, and total your taxable income for those three years.

Figure your average taxable income for those three years, and then multiply by 140 percent. If your 1986 taxable income exceeds this figure by more than 10 percent, you may benefit from income averaging.

Certain taxpayers are automatically ineligible for income averaging. In most cases, non-resident aliens or previously self-employed taxpayers, such as those who are included in this group. Keep in mind that income averaging will not be available after this year because of the new tax law.

Straight face worth $25

Keeping a straight face is worth $25 at the Granite City Campus of Belleville Area College.

GCC's student activities office is sponsoring a "We Can Make You Laugh Contest" at 7 p.m. Friday, March 27, in the campus cafeteria, 4950 Maryville Road. Cost is $1 per person, which includes refreshments. Tickets are available in the administration office at the door.

Participants will face three comedians from the Kramer Agency of Grand Rapids, Mich., for two minutes each. Persons not laughing will receive $25. Judges will be GCC faculty and staff members.

The contest is the second in a series of Friday Night Comedy Showcase events at GCC.

Teen program depends on youth, community

"What is wrong with our teenagers today?"

This general phrase represents an attitude that is expressed regarding youth of the '80s, local health officials say. They have scheduled a workshop on the topic for March 25 in Granite City.

Increases reported in the number of teenagers who are sexually active, becoming pregnant, abusing alcohol and drugs, experiencing eating disorders or committing suicide are the evidence that a problem of major proportions may exist.

In a society that focuses on its problems, the ability to see the resources available to improve life's circumstances can become overloaded, resources available to combat the problems of youth are the teens themselves, the officials say.

Residents of Madison County now have an opportunity to battle against the pressures on youth to fit the mold of the troubled teenager. The opportunity is called Teens 'N' Tact.

Teens 'N' Tact is a one-day workshop for grades nine through 11, funded by the Illinois Department of Public Health under the Parents Too Soon initiative.

The workshop is being planned and organized by the following agencies:

The Office of the Regional Superintendent of Schools, Plaza Health Care, Illinois Department of Children & Family Services, Madison County Detention Center, Central Baptist Family Services, Mental Health Services of Southern Madison County, Truancy Alternative Program, Community Counseling Center of Alton, University of Illinois Extension Service, Children's Home & Aid Society, Coordinating Youth Services, Family Service & Visiting Nurse Association, and Madison County Urban League.

Cooperating school systems include Madison, Edwardsville, Granite City, East Alton-Wood River, Bethalto, Venice, Roxana, and Collinsville.

Three hundred fifty young people will gather on March 25 at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Granite City. The students will focus on what is right with youth and how they can make life better for themselves and the teens with whom they interact daily.

The workshop's philosophy is based on the premise that if teens understand the perils they face in daily life, have the skills necessary to make quality decisions, like and appreciate themselves and are supported, then they can build a successful life for themselves and influence other teens to accomplish the same.

The goal is to change the 350 who can then influence thousands.

The success of the conference is said to be largely dependent on the support demonstrated by the community for participating teens. There are many opportunities for citizens to become involved, the sponsors said.

One opportunity will be for citizens to participate in post-conference parent nights.

Parent nights will be held in Roxana, Edwardsville and Granite City in early April, to inform both the parents of those teens who attend and other interested citizens about how they can support teens in improving their lives and positively influencing their peers.

A second opportunity for citizen involvement will be to support.

Class reunion set April 11

The January 1942 class of Granite City High School will have a 45th-year class reunion at Sunset Hills Country Club, Saturday, April 11.

The committee met Tuesday night at the home of Doris (Montgomery) Pekarik and the deadline for reservations will be March 28.

The class committee has not been able to locate Ben Lucas, Warren Greenhaw, Benny Weisenborn, Rosemary (Harper) Lindsey, Harry Squires and Virginia (Marshall) Sorenson.

Anyone knowing their whereabouts is asked to contact active committee members: Alberta (Kurtek) Cauble, 452-6187; Doris (Montgomery) Pekarik, 452-6181; Emma (Kobert) Jauch, 931-4345; or Mary Lee (Nichols) Lorton, 797-0929. The next meeting will be Tuesday, March 24.

SPRINGFIELD — Collinsville attorney Thomas L. Burroughs was reappointed by Gov. James Thompson March 13 to another term on the State Board of Education.

Burroughs was named to a new six-year term — expiring in January 1993 — on the board which determines state policy for Illinois' public schools. He is the only resident of this region to serve on that state board at this time. Burroughs was first named to the SBE in 1981.

Burroughs, 36, was formerly president of the Collinsville School

Board before getting the state post, which is non-salaried and pays expenses only.

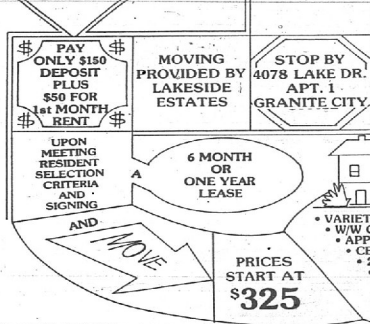

He was one of four SBE members reappointed. The others are David W. Juday of Sycamore, George H. Thompson of Prophetstown and Carol N. Johnston of Des Plaines.

20 Venice teachers get notices

By Valerie Evenden
 Staff writer

VENICE — Twenty teachers in the School District will be getting letters of honorable dismissal this week as authorized by the Board of Education.

Faculty members receiving the notices have up to 18 years of service in the district, Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers said.

A public hearing on the dismissal notices was held Thursday night prior to a regular board meeting. A resolution "based upon economic necessity" was adopted by board members.

"This is more or less a routine matter, something we've become used to doing over the past few years because of the uncertainty of federal and state funding at Lincoln Tech," the administrator said.

Venice-Lincoln Technical Center, the adult vocational-education school on South Fourth Street, Venice, is administered by the Venice district. Its programs focus on adult training and are funded with state and federal grants.

Fourteen of the teachers to be honorably dismissed are employed at Venice-Lincoln Technical Center. The remaining six work at Venice Grade School, the superintendent said. Sixteen teachers were issued notices last year but were rehired. Some years ago, up to 40 teachers were included on the dismissal list.

"I think Mr. Ponce has a good feeling, as we do, that the programs will be funded," Vickers said.

"Very hopefully so," responded Peter Ponce, Venice-Lincoln director.

Ponce has heard unofficially that VLTC will receive for 1987-88 about the same funding as last year, he reported.

"We won't know what is budgeted or what to expect until about the first of June," he said. The teachers affected by the letters were assured that if the federal and state programs in question are funded again, they will be rehired.

Tuition increased at SIU

Tuition increases of approximately 4 percent have been approved for Southern Illinois University.

The Board of Trustees approved the increases March 12, to be effective with the summer sessions this year.

The Illinois Board of Higher Education, at its meeting on Jan. 6, formally recommended the increase at public universities for fiscal year 1988, beginning July 1. IBHE staff said the recommended increase would provide about $8.2 million of a total proposed increase of about $87.5 million for public universities.

SIU officers said action by the Board of Trustees on tuition levels was necessary to support appropriation procedures in the current legislative session.

The current academic year tuition rates, recommended increases, and approved fiscal '88 rates for full-time resident students are:

SIU at Edwardsville: undergraduate, $1,045.65; $41.85; $1,087.50; graduate, $1,120.35; $44.85; $1,165.20; and dental, $2,028.82; $82.38; $2,111.20.

SIU at Carbondale: undergraduate and graduate, $1,069.20; $43.20; $1,112.40; law, $1,260; $50.40; $1,310.40; and medicine, $4,410.87; $45.87.

Since fiscal '73, tuition and required fees at SIUE and SIUC have increased by 130.7 percent and 189.5 percent, respectively, as compared to a 182.7 percent increase for all public universities in Illinois and a 23.9 percent increase for nonpublic institutions in Illinois.

During the same period, tuition for community colleges in Illinois has increased 220.6 percent.

University officers said there is no desirable alternative to the increase approved for the next fiscal year.

Without the increase, SIU would have lost $1.31 million in budgeted funding being recommended by the IBHE.

Summer day camps offered for youths

Young people ages 5 to 17 will be able to enjoy the atmosphere of the campus at SIUE in summer day camp learning experiences again this year.

"Many of the camps offer hands-on experiences. For example, computer campers work directly on university computers. Science campers find themselves exploring SIUE's 2,600 rolling, wooded acres and conducting experiments in university laboratories," said Laurie Watkins, a coordinator in the SIUE Office of Continuing Education.

Sports campers will train at the Vadalabene Center and on SIUE's athletic fields. Music campers will work directly with SIUE's music professors.

More than 1,500 persons attended last summer's camps. Additional spaces are available this summer.

For information and a brochure listing fees, dates and eligibility criteria, parents may call Watkins at 692-3210 or write SIUE Summer Camps, Box 1085, SIUE, Edwardsville, Ill. 62026-1085.

The brochure was prepared early this year to help parents plan camp experiences as part of the summer vacation schedules of their children.

There's a camp for nearly every interest, including early childhood activity; computer, music, science and writing studies; art, dance and theater; and individual and team sports.

Most of the camps last a week or two. The activities last from early June to mid-August.

Some changes have been made to enhance the value of the summer experiences. The upper age limit has been raised for the two writing camps conducted by the department of English language and literature, said coordinator Eugene Violette, department assistant chairman.

"Last summer we had about 50 students ages 8 to 15 in each of the two sessions. We got a lot of requests to raise it to 16 so we could take in more students who wanted to improve their writing for the upper high school grades," he said.

The camps combine education and fun, even when they focus on classroom activity such as computer or writing studies. Vigorous recreational programs are part of each camp's schedule.

There are half-day, all-day and residential camp programs. The instructors are regular faculty members, assisted by talented SIUE students.

Many parents take summer classes while their children attend camps. The SIUE Summer University schedule also is available by calling 692-3210.

Pupil transportation refunded to parents

Illinois Senate Bill 730, which was signed into law on July 18, 1985, provides that parents and guardians are entitled to state reimbursement for qualifying transportation expenses paid during a school year.

Parents (or legal guardian(s) who must provide transportation to and from school, because free transportation is not available for their children, may be eligible to receive money from the state to help offset some of the cost: for example, bus fares, or mileage reimbursement for private autos at 21 cents per mile.

Regional Superintendent of Schools Gene Briggs said, "If you can answer yes to three questions for the 1986-87 school year, you may be eligible to receive up to $100 per child for providing this transportation."

(1) Was the pupil under the age of 21 at the close of the school year?

(2) Was the pupil a full-time student in grades kindergarten through 12?

(3) Did the pupil live 1½ miles or more from the school attended?

"If you answered yes to the above questions and want to file a claim, you must go to the school where each of your children is enrolled within 21 days of the end of the current school year to complete a claim application."

"If your claim is approved you should receive a check directly from the state during November 1987."

"The parent or guardian filing a claim must have adequate evidence of expenditures. In the absence of this evidence, an affidavit may be accepted as evidence."

"If you have questions concerning the claim applications, please call or go to your school as soon as possible."

Brass quintet at BAC

The Chicago Brass Quintet will perform at Belleville Area College on Saturday, March 21.

The concert will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Belleville Campus theater, 2500 Carlyle Road. Cost is $2 per person.

Tickets are available in the student activities office. For information, the number is 235-2700, extension 205.

The quintet performs combinations of original brass works from the Renaissance to the 20th century.

Placement exams scheduled

Advanced Placement Exams will be given at Granite City High School in May. Registration deadline will be March 30.

Taking AP examinations may include the following benefits:

Exemptions by a college or university from beginning courses and permission to take higher level courses.

College credit for exams taken, which means fewer graduation requirements.

Tuition savings.

The exams are available in the following areas: American history, biology, calculus, chemistry, computer science, English, music theory, physics, and world history. These exams will be given at a cost of $53 per test. Fees may be paid in full at the time of registration or in two installments — $25 at the time of registration and the balance at the time of the test in May.

Students should see the high school guidance secretary before or after school to obtain informational pamphlets and/or register for exams.

For more information, contact Sonya Adkerson, guidance coordinator for the school.

Early dismissal in Venice

By Valerie Evenden

VENICE — Classes in the Venice schools will be dismissed for parent-teacher conferences, starting about 11:30 a.m. Friday, Superintendent of Schools Robert N. Vickers said this week.

Students will leave school after their lunch hour. Lunch is served at staggered intervals, depending on grade level, Vickers said.

No classes will be held on March 27 when faculty members attend the Madison County teachers' conference, scheduled at SIUE.

At Tuesday night's City Council meeting, aldermen agreed to co-sponsor an appreciation dinner and reception honoring the Class A state champion Red Devils basketball team.

The public event will take place from 5 to 8 p.m. Saturday, March 28, at the Venice Senior Citizens Community Center, Klein and Brown streets. More than 250 people are expected to participate.

Senior office opens

By Bill Bagby

GRANITE CITY — After months of planning, a senior citizens' information and referral office has opened.

Located on the second-floor of City Hall, the office will provide information on senior programs and direct seniors to service agencies designed to help meet their needs.

The office will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and will be manned by Barbara Mikoff. Seniors can visit the office in person or call at 462-6234, Mikoff said. Requests for information will be kept confidential, she said.

The office was moved to City Hall from the red room at Granite City Township Hall because the red room was used too much, Bill Burkley, chairman of Granite City's Senior Citizens Advisory Committee, said at a meeting Thursday. Mayor Von Dee Cruise had originally promised a room for the office in City Hall.

"Traffic-wise, it's a better situation," Burkley said.

Establishment of the office was recommended to the committee in a needs assessment study prepared last year.

Mikoff will begin to train volunteers from the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) to assist in manning the office, she said. She has also established a cross-index file of services available to area seniors, she said.

"I'm really pleased we've got this (information and referral) office established," said Nan Henderson, committee secretary.

Henderson's term on the committee will expire next month along with members Juanita Crawley and John Pekarik.

The committee is slated to meet again at 3 p.m. Wednesday, April 8.

Film showing set at Central Baptist

The film "Beyond the Cross," filmed largely by the persecuted church inside Russia, will be shown at Central Baptist Church, 3940 Illinois 111, Sunday, March 22, at 8:45 a.m.

"Christians of Communist lands are sending a message to the church in the West... a message of triumph and victorious Christian growth as the church under oppression risks life to worship, to fellowship, and to receive the word of God," the Rev. Wayne Musatics, host pastor, said.

This message is presented in the film, which was produced by Underground Evangelism, a missionary outreach group based in Camarillo, Calif.

It was filmed over the past several years. Many of the scenes were filmed inside the Soviet Union, the pastor said.

Walmsley—Superintendent gets one-year contract

Enhance communication between the superintendent and the School Board staff.

Walmsley said the goals reflected different approaches than Redmonds' to the job.

Walmsley said he disagreed with Redmond on the issue of recommending positions to the Board of Education.

"I was appalled that there were people who were proposing that the Board of Education had no business in selecting personnel," Walmsley said.

Redmond disagreed with some board members on how administrators should be selected. Redmond thought that, as the chief district administrator, the superintendent's hiring recommendations should generally be accepted by the board. The board often rejected Redmond's recommendations in favor of hiring administrators it wanted.

Walmsley has been "extremely cooperative" about hiring administrators, Walmsley said. He said such cooperation has worked.

"Administrators selected in the last 12 months have been working very well," he said.

One change Walmsley said he has made is to meet with school administrators every Monday. He calls the practice a "team approach."

"I felt too many times people were making unilateral decisions. They (the meetings) were not going on a regular basis," he said.

The district also has a better image now, Walmsley said.

"There was a lot of confusion last year. I just felt I could establish a better atmosphere in the community. I have been out visiting to the community."

Walmsley said he has also visited district's schools about 100 times this semester.

Walmsley's new contract begins July 1. No salary is set in the new contract.

Arrested—Police nab suspects, accuse one of murder

Johnston and Mr. Choat left the home through the front door, allegedly taking the boy. When they were approaching the rear of the home, Mr. Choat was shot in the face by John Douglas, 21, who was charged with the slaying.

Stephenson, Mr. Choat later died at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. The boy was put in the auto and was driven about a block before being pushed from the car, officers allege.

Harris doesn't foresee charges being filed against Douglas, he said. Final determination will be made by the state's attorney's office, he said.

"He (Douglas) was defending himself and trying to prevent a crime," Harris said.

Johnston was charged for Mr. Choat's death due to a state statute that states if a person is killed during the commission of a forcible felony, other persons involved can be charged with murder, he said.

The arrests were made following a thorough investigation by detectives and the cooperation of other law enforcement agencies, Harris said.

The motive for the incident is still under investigation, he said.

Trial—Bruce trial enters eighth day today attended his wedding, uninvited, several days before the murder.

Dorothy Bruce testified that Jack came to her house around 7 p.m. April 30 to eat.

"I always came by and ate supper," she said.

After talking to someone on a downstairs phone, Dorothy said Jack left her house about 8 p.m. She didn't know where he was going, she said.

John Daniel of Granite City said he saw Bruce at the Inn Between Tavern, 2200 Maryville Road, three times the night of April 30 and early morning May 1.

Janice Brooks, a singer who was performing at Charlie's Restaurant, 3120 Nameoki Road, said she talked with Bruce about 10 a.m. May 1 in the restaurant.

The trial was scheduled to resume at 9:30 a.m. today.

Obstetrics staff offering classes

The Obstetrics Department at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City, is offering a series of classes throughout the next several months. Classes include Early Pregnancy, Breastfeeding, Creative Parenting, and Expectant Sibling Class.

All OB classes are provided as a community service and meet in the Pre-Natal Classroom, second floor, McKinley School Building, 22nd and Iowa streets.

The Early Pregnancy classes are for women less than six months pregnant and provide information on nutrition, exercise, breast conditioning, how a woman's body changes during pregnancy, and how the fetus develops. Classes meet for two consecutive Mondays, April 20 and 27, from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Lamaze Classes introduce expecting parents during the last three months of pregnancy to the Lamaze method of birthing. The six-week series of classes includes relaxation and breathing techniques, discussion of labor and delivery, medications and Cesarean sections, an introduction to parenting and breastfeeding, and a tour of the OB Department. All classes meet from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Pre-registration is required.

Classes for women with due dates between June 1 and Aug. 15 begin on the following days:

Tuesday sessions, April 14; Wednesday sessions, April 15; and Thursday sessions, April 16.

For those mothers who have attended a prenatal class series with their previous pregnancy(ies) and feel a need to refresh their knowledge for their current pregnancy, a Lamaze Refresher Course option is available. The expense involved and coach should attend the first class of the Lamaze classes. At that time, the prenatal instructors and the mother will decide what classes of the regular series to attend.

Breastfeeding Your Baby is a class for both expectant or new parents who have chosen breastfeeding for their baby, and who want to know more about the subject. Topics include advantages of breastfeeding, suggestions for increasing success and avoiding problems, tips for mothers who wish to return to work, and basic how-to information. The class will meet on Monday, March 23, from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

The Creative Parenting Class is a unique program that provides insight and information about becoming better parents. The program is designed for couples expecting a baby and for those who have recently had a newborn. Grandparents and other special people who assist in the care of the new family member can also benefit from this class.

Topics include infant CPR, basic childhood illnesses, car/home safety, and milestones of growth and development in early childhood (with emphasis on the first year of life). The class will meet on two consecutive Mondays, April 6 and 13, from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

The arrival of a new baby is said to be a very important event which affects everyone in the family — especially the other children at home. SEMC's Expectant Sibling Class will provide siblings with the opportunity to be a part of the upcoming birth, allowing them to participate in specific activities directed toward their role in welcoming and understanding the newborn baby.

Children must be two years old or older and the expectant mother must be at least six months pregnant. The child must be accompanied by a parent, and the class will be held on Monday, May 30, from 10 a.m. to noon, in the OB solarium on 2-Dotors.

Individuals interested in attending any of these classes offered through SEMC's Obstetrics Department may register by calling 798-3040.

Screenings here for study of hypertension

Researchers from Washington University School of Medicine in St. Louis will offer high blood pressure screenings at a number of Illinois Schnuck Markets.

The researchers are looking for volunteers for a national study that will show whether elderly people benefit from treatment for systolic hypertension, a serious problem that occurs in more than a quarter of people over 75 years old.

Screenings will be held at the following Schnuck Markets: March 20, Fairview Heights (625 Lincoln Highway) and Alton (2811 Homer Adams Parkway); March 24, Granite City (3401 Nameoki Road); March 26, Cahokia (1615 Camp Jackson) and Wood River (1435 Vaughn Road). The screenings are scheduled from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 3 p.m.

The screenings are brief and simple: Participants have their blood pressure checked and, if interested, provide their name, age, address and phone number.

If they are willing to participate in the screening phase of the study and will receive an in-office evaluation.

Washington U. is one of 16 centers participating in the national study, called the Systolic Hypertension in the Elderly Program (SHEP). The project is funded by the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute and the National Institute on Aging.

Principal investigator of the St. Louis area study is H. Mitchell Perry Jr., M.D., professor of medicine and director of the hypertension division at the School of Medicine and a physician at Barnes Hospital, a sponsoring institution of the Washington U. Medical Center. The study is being conducted in cooperation with St. Louis University School of Medicine.

SHEP is designed to answer a long-debated question: Whether lowering systolic pressure with drugs will decrease heart attacks and stroke. Also, researchers are investigating whether medication can favorably affect memory and mental powers in people aged 60 and older, and whether lowering systolic blood pressure improves the quality of their lives.

Systolic hypertension occurs when the top number of the blood pressure measurement is 160 mm Hg. or above and the bottom number is less than 90 mm Hg. Millions of Americans have the condition, which is believed to increase the risk of heart attack and stroke, major causes of illness and death. Systolic blood pressure generally rises with age.

So far, St. Louis researchers have enrolled more than 200 men and women aged 60 and older with isolated systolic hypertension; they plan to enroll at least 300 by April.

Participants are followed for a minimum of five years, and receive free physicals, medications, laboratory tests and electrocardiograms. About half of the participants are given active medications. All active medica-

Carol Henrichs, a registered nurse and diabetes instructor at SEMC, will provide an overview of the disease including symptoms, management and complications of diabetes.

Free diabetes class next week

For those interested in learning more about diabetes, free classes are being offered Monday and Tuesday, March 23 and 24, from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. in the Wiesman Room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., 798-3485 or 798-3840.

Nancy Teigen, a registered dietitian, will discuss nutrition, dining out, sweeteners and meal planning using the exchange system.

Nurses motivated, moving

By Mary Halford, RN
INA District 10 member

When the alarm clock goes off at 5:30 each morning what motivates nurses to open their eyes, throw their feet on the floor, and pull themselves out of bed? There have been various studies that analyze what motivates the incentive to go to work each day.

Money is one motivating factor, but not the most influential one. Many employees have taken job demotions to increase their job satisfaction.

It has been found that if a person is not happy with his/her job, he/she will not be motivated to fulfill the duties to the utmost potential. If the employee has some freedom in making decisions and has well-defined, achievable goals set, the duties of the job will be more easily completed the best way possible.

We nurses often assume that our co-workers who are somewhat lazy "don't care" about their job. Actually, they do not lack motivation, but are simply motivated to do something different than is expected of the "good employee."

Life experiences influence each of us to view things differently. To one person, time may be very important to be at work a few minutes early and be productive all day long. To another, the main objective may be to have a relaxed attitude about the day and work at a slower, less goal-oriented pace.

Motivators in nursing are as many as there are personality types. Some influencing considerations need to be addressed. Salaries in nursing can be a strong motivator for those choosing nursing as a career.

The nurturing attributes of women and men can be well channeled in this profession. Patient care is very satisfying and rewarding.

The profession offers a large variety of settings which opens up a wide range of career opportunities. Sixty-five percent of nurses remain in the hospital at this time.

Projections by the Health and Human Services Commission in its second report to the president and Congress predicts for 1990 the hospital occupancy rate will be down and community health nursing needs will rise.

Nurses are looking toward nursing as a third-party reimbursement for nursing salaries. The dreams and motivators seem to be in place.

Other characteristics that decrease the motivation to choose or remain in nursing also need to be viewed. Often nurses experience powerlessness. The nursing role is immersed within the medical field that has been predominantly controlled by the physicians and hospital management. Very few nurses are unionized which also contributes to the lack of control of their work environment.

Generally speaking, the role of the nurse has traditionally been filled by the female gender (greater than 90 percent) which may play a part in the small amount of control that is "allowed" to the nurse.

Nurses today are motivated to upgrade nursing. Many states, including Illinois, are actively striving to standardize the educational preparation of nurses, with technical nurses from associate degree programs and professional nurses from baccalaureate programs.

Nationally, nurse anesthetists and nurse midwives have achieved third-party reimbursement. Locally, our psychiatric nurse specialists have also been able to receive monetary reimbursement for services.

Nurses today are motivated. Nurses are on the move to change the health care system to provide a better quality of care for consumers, especially the poor and elderly, women and children.

Other characteristics that decrease the motivation to choose or remain in nursing also need to be viewed. Often nurses experience powerlessness. The nursing role is immersed within the medical field that has been predominantly controlled by the physicians and hospital management. Very few nurses are

One out of ten women will develop breast cancer.

Perhaps the two most frightening words to a woman are breast cancer. The number one killer of females, breast cancer is a disease caused by uncontrolled growth of abnormal cells in the breast tissue. But with detection, effective treatment can be started immediately, therefore improving the patient's prognosis. The survival rate among women who find cancer before it is noticeable is 97 percent.

To answer the need for early detection of breast disease, St. Elizabeth Medical Center has established the Breast Diagnostic Program, which provides mammographies at almost half the cost of such procedures being done elsewhere. A convenient diagnostic procedure, a mammogram provides patients with high quality, high sensitivity images with minimal radiation exposure. (Physician referral is necessary)

Following the guidelines by the American Cancer Society, this simple, painless exam is currently the best method of detecting breast disease. The ACS recommends all women age 35 to 40 have an initial, routine mammogram; diagnostic exams periodically between age 40 and 50; and yearly exams after age 50.

Stretching exercise scheduled

"Don't hate growing old...work it out in the new exercise and stretching class being offered through St. Elizabeth Medical Center," Cherie Kohler, course instructor, said this week.

"Designed for people of all ages and ability levels, Stretching for Relaxation is a safe, gentle, gradual system of exercise that does not require limberness or stamina. Exercises consist of a series of bends, lifts and twists, performed with specific breathing patterns.

"No one is ever too old, too stiff or too disabled to begin exercising," said Kohler.

"It may be the lack of exercise in people's lives that is responsible for much of their pain, stiffness, tension, obesity, insomnia, anxiety and depression. The amount of exercise a person gets each day is the single most important factor in maintaining good health.

"There's only one person responsible for your health. It isn't your pharmacist or your doctor. It's the person looking back at you as you gaze into the mirror every morning."

Classes will meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, March 31 to May 21, from 4:45 to 5:45 p.m., in the Going Strong Wellness Center, located in the basement of the newly refurbished McKinley School building, 22nd and Iowa streets, across from the medical center. Cost is $24.

"I am well aware that people lounge exercising, myself included," Kohler said, "but our current class participants seem to enjoy Stretching for Relaxation."

"Through the use of simple stretching and breathing exercises, individuals can increase their energy levels, improve their circulation, correct poor posture, and get a good night's sleep without the use of drugs. After class, you will not be tired out, but will instead feel refreshed and energized."

"These exercises are for everyone. They can be enjoyed by the active person as well as people who may be overweight or who have never done any sort of regular physical activity."

"Ten of the next 20 years of a person's life may be spent either asleep or watching television. This type of inactivity is more destructive to a person's health than smoking or obesity."

To register or for information, the SEMC Wellness Center numbers are 798-3WEL or 798-3855.

Board's vote questionable

Pontoon Beach has looked toward the rainbow, and tried to annex it, but some think long-time residents in the village's own back yard are being ignored as officials attempt to increase its size and population.

The concern was accentuated Monday when the village Zoning Board of Appeals agreed to allow 25 more mobile homes on Quality Sand Inc.'s property at Marigold Drive. The trailers add to 200 reportedly approved for the land, which lies behind a subdivision.

During the meeting, subdivision residents said they were concerned about increased traffic on Marigold Drive. They were concerned about trailers hurting game values. They were concerned about the pond on the property and whether it might pose a safety hazard.

By the time the meeting concluded, the concern had changed to anger, and for good reason.

During that public meeting, the board took a secret vote. By written ballot, it voted 3-2 to override the concern of village residents those 246 persons who petitioned against the trailers. Board members wouldn't reveal how they voted.

In so doing, the board injured its credibility with the public and probably, though unintentionally, violated the law.

The publicly taken secret ballot is a spokesperson, said Phil Mueller, a noteperson for the Illinois Attorney General's office. "You cannot take a secret ballot for a decision on a vote like that," he said. "That's against the (Illinois) Open Meetings Act."

Though how individual board members voted was revealed to the Press-Record the next day, the fact that village residents were ignored when requesting the same information indicates, at best, the ZBA's ignorance of laws public officials are supposed to uphold.

ZBA President Lee Ridgeway said it's standing board practice to take secret ballots and to reveal how ZBA members voted at subsequent Village Board meetings. He said board members did not know about the law, but he said he planned to discuss it with Village Attorney Keith Jensen.

How the vote was taken is important, but more so is what it means. The village may add 325 families, but no one has said how the village plans to handle added traffic on Marigold Drive, a two-lane street. A ZBA member said another road was being considered, but he wasn't sure — he voted for adding the 125 trailers.

The large pond on the property, estimated at more than 100 feet deep by a Village Board member, concerns the subdivision residents. Children may be drawn to it, they said. But precautions weren't promised.

Having a trailer park next to homes concerns the residents, but that didn't seem to draw much concern from the voting majority of ZBA members. The majority doesn't live next to the Quality Sand land.

The subdivision residents' concerns weren't addressed by most ZBA members, but the residents deserve an answer.

In the quest to broaden village borders and increase population, the common good may be getting sidetracked. Growth at any cost is hardly a wise course.

In the way it addresses these concerns at its March 24 meeting, the Village Board will answer whether the public's legitimate concerns are shared by its elected leaders.

'99 being shaped in '87

When we were growing up, the end of the century seemed far away. But this spring, the Class of 1999 (the present kindergarten class) is in the center of Illinois school planning.

How can we help the future graduates of Granite City, Venice, Madison, Marquette, Cahokia, Metro East, Lutheran...? How can we assure that the Class of '99 is better prepared, more able to work, for all of us and themselves, than graduates are today?

School goals for 1999 in the 1987 State of the State message include:

•Cutting the 25 percent dropout rate in half.

•Reducing pregnancies among teenage girls by 50 percent a year, cutting the rate by more than half.

•Reducing student use of drugs and alcohol by 50 percent yearly.

•Lowering the number of students lacking basic immunizations by 5 percent a year. Today, 22 percent of school-age children have not received immunizations and 40 percent of those younger than school age have not been immunized.

•Making sure every '99 student who wants to get a job or wants to go to summer school will be able to do so.

•Finding more foster homes and adoptive parents for children who need a home, by increasing adoption rates by 5 percent a year, reducing by half the number of wards of the state.

All of the objectives seem reasonable and achievable, and collectively they could make an immense difference. Whether they become a reality — through education and other programs — will depend on how seriously Illinoisans want and strive for them.

Area development sought

Hopes are high for passage this spring of a bill creating the Southwest Regional Development Authority.

The local, state and private-sector partnership would unite Madison and St. Clair counties in developing needed projects to improve the economy and expand jobs. One plan might be a marina at the site of old Locks and Dam 26.

Revenue bonds could be issued by the authority for industrial, commercial and recreational endeavors. The authority would have no taxing power.

Angered about price increase

To the editor: So the price of the Granite City Press-Record/Journal has raised to 30 cents per issue!!!!

Questions: We as readers, what extra have we received for this increase? Does this small town newspaper, published only on a weekly basis, think they are a better newspaper than the St. Louis Post-Dispatch which comes out on a daily basis for 25 cents and offers much more for the reader/buyer?

You know, not all the readers of newspapers have their papers delivered to their doors by newspaper boys and girls. I prefer to get my newspaper at the store or at the newspaper office, as I don't care much for reading the paper when the news is stale or wet and torn. As for the newspaper boys and girls who deliver the Press-Record/Journal if the newspaper office feels these boys and girls deserve more money, then they (the newspaper office) should give the boys and girls a larger cut or percentage of the sales of the papers; the boys and girls sell from door to door.

Many of the people who receive their newspapers from a newspaper boy or girl do give these carriers a tip, especially these people that buy the newspaper on a weekly or monthly basis. The first edition of the new increase (March 5, 1987) was not worth 30 cents per issue, nor have previous issues of the newspaper been worth the 25 cents per issue in some cases.

DARLENE STRUBBERG

disappointed to say the least. These young men gave Granite High respectability on the court, not only at home, but away games as well. One cannot overlook their gallant efforts with their shooting and their defense, when at times their size didn't match up. There are many coaches in the area and far beyond who would be extremely satisfied with 80 wins in four years with some limited talent on the team as a whole, and no bench with depth.

The Hogan twins, Timmy and Jamie, Tom Taylor, Eric Ryterski and Greg Lilley gave Granite City High basketball followers a lot of excitement and thrills the past four years, that we will never forget. The "subs" also should never be forgotten for their contributions. All fine young men, from one end of the bench to the other. I wish each and every one of them lived next door to me.

To Mr. and Mrs. Hogan: Thank you for giving us two fine sons who have excelled in three major sports during their four years at Granite High. Many of us will never see a duplication of their talent as twins again in our lifetime. Because of their size, and lack of height, the members of the team have not attracted offers from many colleges, but I predict some will enter into some college and do well there as they have done here. What they might have lacked in size and height, they sure made up for it with heart and guts. You will be missed. You will be remembered.

Contra-versy makes history

One of eight Tower Commission reports on the Contra-versy says President Reagan wanted to free hostages in Iran so fervently that he let the National Security Council run away with itself. From reports and leaks from the other seven reports we know:

Reagan got regular briefings from John Poindexter, former National Security Council head. Reagan approved an Israeli shipment of arms to Iran in August 1985. Reagan mostly sought information about American hostages in Lebanon. Reagan sent several investigating agencies eight file drawers full of documents relating to the subject.

There's an ex-model/ex-secretary who said she helped shred documents in Col. Oliver North's office.

At stake is the White House in 1988 and all the patronage and Supreme Court appointments that go with it.

And probably the balance of power in Congress and chairmanships that go with that. Up to now you have been listening and reading and absorbing the allegations.

The Los Angeles Times periodically surveys thousands of Americans.

Its most recent survey indicated that the Contra-versy is casting a long shadow.

Forty-three percent to 39 percent of Americans believe Reagan lied. Two-to-one, Americans disapprove of the president's handling of the Contra-versy.

Fifty-seven percent believe he is holding back information. Seventy-five percent believe there's been a cover-up in the White House.

All of these reflections were measured before any of the several investigations ended. So all of these impressions reflect what the public has gotten from the media.

In spite of the negative impressions about contra aid, Reagan's job approval rating has increased from 50 percent to 58 percent. And 79 percent of Americans "like him as a person."

This is not the first time Americans have been rescued by their own gut instinct about the relative importance of what they hear and read.

Endorsements still useful?

As the April 7 municipal and park elections near, do you think political endorsements by newspapers, in general, have as much influence on the outcome of elections now as they once did? And do newspaper endorsements ever influence your own voting?

Charles Pabst, Granite City
"I think so. They influence the public quite a bit. They (the newspapers) can woo the public any way they want." In response to the second question, "No, I go by gut feelings when I vote."

Sarah Whitehead, Granite City
"I think they do. The public is still influenced by them." In response to the second question, "No, I make up my mind long before the election. But most people are easily influenced. I'm not."

Dennis Nemeth, Troy, Ill.
"No, I don't, because I don't think the people read the newspaper as much as they used to." In response to the second question, "Sometimes, yes."

Travel

Dubrovnik: how to get there

By Deborah Reinhardt
Staff writer

Experienced travelers know that package tours can be a mixed blessing. Usually, package tours are a hassle-free vacation option. Sometimes, it's the best value for travel dollars. But occasionally, escorted tours leave little time for participants to explore on their own. It's rare when all positive elements come together.

Brentwood Travel International (BTI) offers escorted tours to Yugoslavia that are hard to beat. A hosted tour has a representative from a tour operator on a trip, but participants are free to plan activities each day.

BTI has a one-week package in Dubrovnik that offers a choice of three hotels. At Hotel Plakir, prices range from $699 (April) to $1,049 (August). Hotel President packages are $799 to $1,199 and Hotel Belvedere are $899 to $1,299.

All prices include round-trip air from New York to Yugoslavia, accommodations, breakfast and dinner, transfers, taxes, service charges and luggage handling. Meals are not included at Hotel Belvedere. Air transportation is Yugoslavia Airlines (JAT). Round-trip air from St. Louis to New York is not included in the listed prices.

During a visit to Dubrovnik in December, I toured Hotel Belvedere, one of the finest hotels I've ever seen. This hotel, which opened less than two years ago where the old Belvedere stood, is managed by Holiday Inn. This establishment is popular with Americans because most European visitors prefer smaller hotels.

There's a variety of accommodations available at the Belvedere. There are 200 rooms and 19 suites, not including two honeymoon suites, each with a brass canopy bed. For the ultimate stay, the Belvedere's presidential suite features an entryway living and dining rooms, full bar, two bedrooms with baths and an exquisite terrace with a view of the old city. It costs $900 to $700 a day.

There is an aperitif bar, snack bar, national restaurant, French restaurant, English restaurant, beer cellar, pastry shop and nightclub. A new conference hall seats 150. And the Belvedere has the most impressive indoor/outdoor pool I've ever seen. The indoor portion is enclosed in glass, which allows bathers to see the magnificent view of the Adriatic and historic downtown Dubrovnik. The hotel is 1,500 meters from the fortress city.

Other amenities at the hotel are sauna, massage, beauty salon, art gallery and a pebbly beach, 200 meters from the hotel.

SOME TRADITIONS never change, like feeding pigeons in a town square. Dubrovnik's Stradun (main street or square) features a lively collection of shops and bistros.

A tavern and restaurant is next to the outdoor amphitheater, where concerts and ballets are held in summer. A casino will be built on the grounds.

BTI has 12- and 14-day tours that combine a stay in Dubrovnik with other resorts. Summer months are busiest in Dubrovnik, when Europeans take vacations along the Adriatic. September and early October are popular with American tourists, when prices are lower and temperatures are slightly cooler.

Whatever your vacation dream, Yugoslavia is sure to fulfill it.

Tour explores Japanese culture

Applications for Views of Japan, a three-week summer program that offers insight into Japanese life, are being accepted until April 15. Departure is July 1 and returns on July 20.

Designed by educators, the program is open to everyone with an interest in Japan's contemporary society. It is co-sponsored by the Japan Society of New York and the Council on International Educational Exchange (CIEE).

During the trip, participants spend six days with a Japanese family and visit schools in the Nagoya area. Following this segment, participants travel to Kyoto for a five-day seminar on aspects of Japanese society as they relate to education. Experts present lectures such as "Minorities in Japan," "The Status of Women," and "Religions in Japan." Discussion sessions provide a forum for debate and exchange of ideas with specialists in their fields.

Participants also visit Takayama, a town hidden in the Japanese Alps. Other highlights include Kyoto's Gion Festival with elaborate parade floats. An optional overnight stay in a Zen Buddhist monastery is available.

Free time is allotted for sightseeing and other activities. At the conclusion of the program, group members may elect to extend their stays in Japan and pursue itineraries of personal interest.

Through special arrangements with CIEE and City University of New York, participants may earn up to three graduate credits.

Write: Helen Bechtolt, Educational Exchange Programs, Council on International Educational

Exchange, 205 E. 42nd St., New York, N.Y. 10017. The telephone number is 212-661-1414, ext. 1207.

The cost is $2,991 from the West Coast. New York and Chicago departures are available for an additional $245.

Chapter hears reports during business meeting

The Laureate Alpha Gamma Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met March 11 in the home of Pat Tsigaloff on Lydia Lane.

Among the reports given during the business meeting was one by Arlene Haldeman, who heads the service committee. She said the committee goals set by her committee at the start of the current club year have been met.

Juanita Calve announced that the memento-filled scrapbook she has been compiling of chapter activities since late spring will be completed soon.

Jean Forrester reminded members of a patio sale, sponsored by the chapter, scheduled to take place at her home on Saturday, April 4. Proceeds will be used for service and other projects during the 1987-88 club year.

President Jane Stevens thanked the group for the friendship and support extended her throughout the 22 years she has lived in Granite City. She and her husband, Ed, are now both retired and are moving within the next few weeks to Avon, Ill., a community where Jane was born, educated, and still has relatives and childhood friends residing there.

Evelyn Tolliver, using his autobiography as her main reference source, conducted the cultural program for the evening on the life and accomplishments of Frank Lloyd Wright, the controversial but ultimately successful American architect and founder of the Prairie style and method of design and construction.

She displayed photographs of many of his well-known projects in Wisconsin, the Chicago area and Pennsylvania as well as in the Southwest, where he taught architectural students in his later years.

The hostess served refreshments to those named and Dolores Byrnes and Ruth Stoyanoff, Mrs. Haldeman has invited the chapter to her home for its next meeting, which will be preceded by an early buffet supper.

Robertsons celebrate 48 years

Aleene and Ed Robertson of 1704 Sixth St., celebrated their 48th wedding anniversary on Feb. 28. They are the parents of two, Gene Robertson, Madison, and Jan Covey, Granite City.

They have six grandchildren. Mrs. Robertson is the former Aleene Anderson. Mr. Robertson is retired from Monsanto Chemical Co. and Mrs. Robertson is retired from the Venice Post Office.

Leona Voloski, owner of the Park Grill in Venice, has as a regular customer Terry Moore of Collinsville. He dines two to three times a week at her restaurant, enjoying the home cooking.

Moore is a retired St. Louis baseball Cardinal outfielder from the 1930s and 1940s, when he starred as an outstanding outfielder. He owned the Paladium Bowling Alleys in East St. Louis for many years.

He presented Mrs. Voloski with a framed photo which he signed, that is displayed in her restaurant.

The Quilting Club met at the home of Catherine Measki for an evening of games and prizes on Thursday, March 12. Dessert was served by Mary Domanski, Marie Szymek, Katie Sucha, Catherine Orris, Mary Ann Bunk and Mary Venosky. Quilting is being resumed, the hostess said.

St. Stanislaus Lodge 1004 met at the Polish Hall, 826 Greenwood St., and made final plans for the annual Lenten fish fry to be held on Friday, March 20. Serving begins at 11 a.m. Carry-outs will be available. The menu consists of fish, spaghetti, stew, dessert, coffee and punch. Diners are $3.75 and sandwiches are $1.50.

Following the fish fry, the third-Friday dance will be held. The Remede Polka Band will play from 8 p.m. to midnight. Admission is $6, which includes refreshments.

On Sunday, April 5, the annual Communion breakfast will be held at the Polish Hall following the 8:30 a.m. Mass at St. Mary's Catholic Church, Madison. Immediately after breakfast, a monthly meeting will be held.

The first-Sunday dance with Dave Hyla's Good Time Band will be held in the evening, April 5.

The local lodge members have been invited by Circuit 21 to be guests at Communion Sunday on April 12 at St. Stanislaus Kostka Church, St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bryant of Madison are announcing the birth of their first child. A son was born on March 6 at Christian Northwest Hospital in St. Louis. He weighed 7 pounds, 13 ounces, and has been named Rocky Brandon. Mrs. Bryant will be remembered as the former Vickie Mansfield.

Amy Robertson of Madison celebrated her 17th birthday on March 3. A cake decorated in purple (the honoree's favorite color) and a pizza were served to Sheri Wilson, Carla Reynolds, Nicole Avila, DeAnn Weidner, Melissa Hahn, Connie Smith, Toni Waller and Erika Rockett. Amy is a junior student at Madison High School, where she is a member of SADD (Students Against Driving Drunk), the Prom Committee, the school newspaper and Future Secretaries.

Robbie and Virginia Brasfield of Madison have returned from a two-week vacation trip to Fort Myers and Fort Charlotte, Fla. They visited friends and local attractions. Brasfield caught a three-foot alligator in Fort Charlotte. He received a heart transplant at the Texas Heart Center in Houston in May 1986, and was the 26th person ever to give a heart transplant while over the age of 50.

Madison Junior Service held a meeting on March 10 at the Madison Recreation Center. President Georgia Stawar opened the meeting and thanked you was received from the staff of the Madison Yearbook for a $100 donation. A $25 donation was also made to Fusion Health Care for adolescent services.

An Easter egg hunt will be held on April 4 at the Madison Recreation Center at 11 a.m. for Madison residents. Invitations will be given at all the Madison schools.

Prizes will be awarded. Chairmen of the event are Carolyn Champton, June Reynolds and Mary Asford.

Hostesses for March were Jackie Snell and Toni Shabo. Others attending were Gert Asford, Donna Hoover, Sandy Barnett, Debbie Dillon, Diane Hudzik, Esther Phillips and Donna Woodard.

Residents host parties

Mr. and Mrs. Paul (Edna) Bennett, 5454 Fleming Ave., hosted a buffet dinner in their home March 14 for relatives and friends. The dinner was a surprise birthday party to honor Mrs. Bennett's mother, Sylvia Whitehead, on her 73rd birthday. Later the guests enjoyed cake, coffee and soft drinks. They also took pictures.

The honoree received many gifts. Guests included Judy, Kari and Kelli Bennett, Cheryl Hall and daughter, Jamie and Jessica, David and Nancy Bennett and son, Jeremy. Glen and Robb Wilson and granddaughter, Autumn.

Also, Jennie Wilson, Marvin and Bonnie Donaldson, Gary and Carlene Whitehead and sons, Michael and Bryan Whitehead, Mary Emma Sherry and daughter, Pam.

Ruby Whitehead, Brenda Lester, Sherry Lester and daughter, Ashley, Danzel and Alicia Whitehead and son, Eric, Joyce Whitehead, Robert and Jean Whitehead and sons, David, Ricky and David, and son, Eric, Joyce Whitehead and son, Eric, Joyce Whitehead, Robert and Jean Whitehead, husband of the honoree.

Mr. and Mrs. Whitehead have been living with the Bennetts while Mr. Whitehead is recuperating from surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Odie (Jewell) Busby, 611 Barkley Ave., had their daughter and son-in-law, David and Peggy Lane and son, David here as guests last week. The Lanes make their home in Madison, Miss.

The Chouteau Township Senior Citizens will assemble for their regular meeting March 26 at the Chouteau Township Civic Center, 637 N. Thorgate Drive. Corned beef and cabbage will be furnished by the organization, with complementary dishes being furnished by the members. There will be entertainment and prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Duniphan, 637 Chouteau Ave., hosted a dinner in their home last week for their daughter, Carolyn Long, in honor of her birthday, March 17.

Corned beef and cabbage were served in a St. Patrick's Day setting. Pictures were taken as the honoree opened her gifts. Later there were card games and a sing-along.

Among the guests were Mrs. Long's grandmother, Lillian Carver, and aunt, Ruth Payne, both of Puxico, Mo.; her aunt, Eula Beck of St. Louis, and sister-in-law, Linda Duniphan, of Collinsville. Also present were her husband, Bob Long, and their daughter, Dana.

Mr. and Mrs. David Ferguson, Mitchell, accompanied their son, Frank, to Murphysboro, Ill., over the weekend. They visited Mrs. Ferguson's mother, Mary, and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Finley (Edna) Caldwell, and her father, Joseph Bennett.

Before returning home the Fergusons also visited Mrs. Ferguson's sister, Mrs. David (Candice) Bennett and son, David, in Cobden, Ill.

Mrs. Josephine Burgener, still homebound from her recent illness, received guests Maxine Duniphan and Pat Polley last week. Pat and her husband, Dick, had just returned from a Caribbean cruise and showed many pictures.

Mitchell School Students of the Week were second-grade pupils Amanda Brown, Matt Cross, Kristy Johnson and Joanna King. The students were chosen by their teachers, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Kibbas and Mrs. Pond. Each child is selected for his or her outstanding qualities.

Amanda was the first in her class to read 100 books and Kristy was a recent runnerup in the spelling bee.

Eleven Mitchell School PTA members were honored at the annual Area Council PTA awards dinner Feb. 26 at the KC Hall. Kris Hamilton and Paul Bringer were presented life memberships to the Illinois PTA.

Robin Rinehart and Kathy Skalliger were presented with the honor of having their names added to the Illinois PTA Book of Recognition. Certificates of appreciation for outstanding service to the Mitchell PTA for 1986-87 were given to Colleen Bringer, Sherry Grubbs, Terry Loyet, Sherry Potts, Diana Ryan, Trudy Sumpter and Lynn Votupal.

4 ways to attract birds

Cloverview Garden Club members enjoyed a luncheon party at the Hilton Inn Black Swan Restaurant in Collinsville. It was given in honor of those retaining office for another term including Mrs. George Knapp, treasurer, Mrs. B.C. O'Neill, vice president, and Mrs. Ray Williamson, president, who was presented with a gift of appreciation.

Mrs. Albert Williams and Mrs. Albert Williams were in charge of arrangements, and decorations were carried out in a St. Patrick's Day theme.

Mrs. Williamson conducted a business meeting and the collect was read in unison. Members responded to roll call by naming ornamental trees.

Announcement was made of the District V board meeting to be held at the Schnucks restaurant in Wood River on March 19. All club presidents and committee chairmen are to attend.

The District V annual meeting will be on Thursday, March 26, at the Collinsville Memorial Library with the Collinsville club hosting the event. A program, "How to Make Arrangements," will be given by Julie Giedeman, flower design instructor from Belleville Area College.

There will be an exhibit of artistic designs by member clubs in two classes: "Keepsakes" and "Spring, the Long and Short of It." Also, many specimens of horticulture will be on display and all will be judged.

After the meeting, several members visited the Colonial Haven Nursing Home and brought a St. Patrick's Day arrangement to the patients.

Other members attending were Mrs. Clarence Etheridge, Mrs. Robert McCauley, Mrs. Louise Sedlack and Mrs. Donald Tabor. The program, "Birdscaping Is for the Birds," was given by Mrs. B.C. O'Neill. She related that birdscaping is the modern extension of the age-old concept of landscaping.

She said, "It means that in choosing plants for your property, special consideration should be given to the basic needs of birds to attract them to your yard. There are many differences between species of birds, but they all have four needs in common — food, water, shelter and nesting sites. We can meet these needs by 'birdscaping' our property."

"The way to begin your plan is by knowing what local birds prefer to eat, what kinds of water they use for drinking and bathing and what types of shelter they choose for their nesting. Food can be obtained from trees, shrubs, flowers and vegetables. Feeding stations are useful adjuncts to natural food sources, but once begun must continue on a regular basis.

"Water is as essential as food and if there is no natural source on our property, a commercial bird bath can be provided. Shelter and nesting sites are as vital to birds as their other needs. They range from ground, sides of cliffs or under low branches to the tops of very tall trees. Birds use twigs, grasses and leaves and you can help by placing pieces of string, yarn and other fibers where each bird can 'shop' for its preferred material."

County's history told in correspondence

A close picture of early settlement days in Madison County is contained in letters of the period, edited by two faculty members from SIUE.

The recently-published 294-page book is The Flagg Correspondence, containing letters of the Gershon Flagg family from 1816 to 1854. The correspondence is preserved at SIUE's Lovejoy Library.

The editors supplied additional information and notes, compiled in more than five years of research. They are Barbara Lawrence, professor of English and a member of SIUE's faculty since 1965, and Nedra Branz, associate professor emerita of history, who taught for SIUE from 1957 to 1964.

The Flagg family, of Vermont, moved to St. Louis in 1816 and to Madison County, near present-day Bethalto, the following year. The Flagg played roles in such historical events in Illinois as the founding of the Republican Party and of the University of Illinois.

The book, published by SIU Press at $29.95, is available from the book store at SIUE.

Both scholars have done extensive research and writing on regional topics. Lawrence is an expert on genealogical research, and Branz is an authority on Illinois newspapers of the 19th century.

Mission Month at Central Christian

A successful celebration of Mission Month has just been completed by the congregation of Central Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) in Granite City. Disciples of Christ churches throughout the nation took part in the annual observance.

Dr. Manuel Tamayo, minister of the local congregation, emphasized that "the concept of missions today is more along the lines of sharing and caring for one another so that we can all live together as God's people rather than trying to destroy one another — instead of the concept of the past which was to evangelize the so-called heathens in the foreign countries of the globe."

Tamayo said that "because a good task has been done in educating people, especially in their native lands, there is no longer a need to send evangelistic preachers to many places. A great number of mission fields of two or three generations ago now have their own seminaries."

"This does not preclude the fact that money is still needed. Today, mission offerings are used for such things as training medical missionaries, providing relief for victims of disasters, resettlement assistance for refugees, vocational training for the poor, and tools and equipment for village development."

In celebration of Mission Month, two dinners were scheduled at Central Christian. Guest speakers were the Rev. Larry Meinzen, SIUE Religious Center, and his wife, Martha, and Dr. Jim Merrell, editor of The Disciple magazine.

India was discussed by the Meinzen, while Merrell spoke about Cuba and his recent visit to that country. In keeping with the theme of the evening, food was served for dinner that was commonly eaten in those countries.

Rev. Meinzen was born in India, went to school in the U.S., spent 1950 to 1963 in India as a teacher, and received his master's degree in 1968. He and his wife returned to India in 1964 to revive campus ministry in the colleges with the help of the Indian pastors and lay people.

He isor there are many influences on the campuses, and the Christian presence there is important.

The population problem, which the Meinzen thought was heavy on the minds of the Indians, had worsened when they returned for their second visit, by the year 2000 it is predicted there will be one billion people in India, with continued poverty for many.

Industrial growth is enormous and also pollution, he said. The Indian government is interested in teaching the poor, and providing subsidies for those willing to teach various vocational trades.

Less than 2 percent of the people in India are Christian, Rev. Meinzen said he felt Christians have had a favorable impact on the nation as a whole, in spite of this small percentage.

Both Meinzen and Merrell displayed artifacts from their visits, and showed slides during their discussions.

Kristofferson's heart in Nashville

By Paul A. Harris
Correspondent
If there was ever any doubt Kris Kristofferson's heart is in Nashville, "Repossessed," his latest record from Mercury and his first in six years, should lay it to rest.

Produced by Nashville veteran Chips Moman, "Repossessed" finds Kristofferson singing the earthy topical songs his fans have grown accustomed to. But the packaging and production of these songs has the neon glow of the Nashville skyline on a Saturday night.

All of the songs were written by Kristofferson between 1984 and 1986, and at least half qualify as fairly typical Nashville fare. "The Heart," for instance, is more or less a clone of Kenny Rogers' Country and Western archetype, "The Gambler," only not as catchy, either melodically or lyrically.

On "Mean Old Man," featuring Carl Perkins on guitar and backup vocal, Kristofferson affects the good of boy manner you'd expect from Willie Nelson or Waylon Jennings or Johnny Cash.

Fans will find Kristofferson on more familiar turf in "They Killed Him," a song commemorating men whose impact on the world has been profound—Mohandas Gandhi, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., John Kennedy and his brother, Robert, and Jesus Christ. The song was covered by Bob Dylan on his latest album, "Knocked Out Loaded."

"Love is the Way" is the only other really strong tune on "Repossessed" and is perhaps the first-ever New Age Country & Western ballad. It was splendidly covered by Cash and Jennings on their recent collaborative album, "Heroes."

Kristofferson's band, the Borderlines, don't seem to be much at home with the balladeer's material. In fact, there seems to be too much instrumentality in almost every mix. The one place it can be forgiven is on "They've Killed Him." The participation of The Memphis Tennessee Police Choir—Memphis is the site of Dr. King's assassination—is a nice touch.

There is some pretense at affecting stage repartee on a couple of cuts, such as "Shipwrecked in the Eighties." But going to mistake this slick studio production for a live recording. It just seems fake, a fact which Moman should have noted. The Nashville treatment doesn't suit this multitalented man's music particularly well.

Church

Doug Jantz is new minister

Doug Jantz has been named the new Outreach Minister at the Clark Avenue Church of Christ. Minister Jantz will be focusing the major part of his work on the youth of the congregation. Jantz is a native of Oklahoma. He received his education at Oklahoma Christian College in Oklahoma City, with three years training at the Sunset School of Preaching and graduate studies, Lubbock, Texas, and St. Louis Christian College. Jantz has previously worked in congregations in Texas.

Jantz and his wife, Susanne, have two-year-old twins, a boy, Paul, and a girl, Lindsey. The youth group at the local church has doubled, so the congregation felt the need to employ someone to lead them, said Gale Thornton, pulpit minister. The Jantz family will reside at 4062 Vesel Ave.

Doug Jantz

Musical ministry Sunday

City Temple Assembly of God Church, 4781 Maryville Road, will be featuring the musical ministry of "Echoes of Praise" Sunday, March 22, at 7 p.m. The pastor, Gary Thomas, is inviting the public to attend. The "Echoes of Praise" are musicians and singers from City Temple who have been ministering in the church for many years. They have also traveled widely in the bi-state area in the past few years. In the group are the Rev. G. Edward Shemwell, Ken Weaver, Dave Benson, Les Wiles, Mark Cox, Don Bradford, Carl Holem and Randy Pryor. They will be conducting the entire evening's service, the pastor said.

Gabriel Shrine elects

The officers who will serve Gabriel Shrine for the ensuing year were elected at the March meeting of Gabriel Shrine 76, White Shrine of Jerusalem. Worthy High Priestess Della Aulbaugh presided. New officers elected were: Donna Thomas, worthy high priestess, Henry Thomas, watchman of shepherds, Helen Schwendemann noble prophetess, Jerry Pragacz, associate watchman of shepherds, Karen Brown, man worthy scribe, Mary Ann DeHart, worthy treasurer, Linda Wiesehan, worthy chaplain, Edna Brown, worthy shepherdess and Ruth Novacich, worthy guide. Past Supreme Worthy High Priestess Ruth Hartsoe was presented and escorted and was a guest in the East for the evening. Fifteen supreme appointees were introduced and escorted. Others escorted were nine worthy high priestesses, three watchmen of shepherds, five past worthy high priestesses and two past watchmen of shepherds. Officers from Calvary, Paul Revere, Mount Olive, Pride of the West and Gaspar Shrine were also escorted. Annual reports were given by the worthy high priestess, secretary, treasurer, auditors and paraphernalia committee. A memorial service was conducted for Olive Moore and John DeHart.

Sacred Heart Crusaders meet

Members of the Sacred Heart Crusaders organization hosted a St. Patrick's Day polka dinner at the church hall on March 18. Eighty people attended the event, featuring a traditional corned beef and cabbage menu with side dishes furnished by the group. Each one present was attired in green apparel.

Floral arrangements were awarded as prizes in the games that followed dinner. Special guests were Father Robert Heinz, Father Flack and the Dominican sisters. Later in the evening the group held a sing-along and the chairman announced the annual spring rummage sale will be held on May 23 beginning at 9 a.m. on the school grounds. The next Crusaders meeting will be on April 20 at 7 p.m.

Fatima Circle plans events

Our Lady of Fatima Circle 835 met at the Knights of Columbus Hall with Regent Ann Pieper presiding. The meeting opened with a prayer followed by the flag salute, and a report on the last meeting was read by Secretary Mary Horvath.

The state convention will be held in Mattison, Ill., and members attending will be Irma Manning, Dorothy Hoedbeck and Mary Horvath, the regent said.

A corporate communion will take place at St. Joseph's Church March 28 at the 5:30 mass. April 2 will be guest night and will be held at Jerry's Cafeteria at 6:30 p.m.

Revival will begin at Madison church

A special song service will be performed during revival services at the Madison Church of God, 1536 Fourth St., the Rev. Jerry Hogan said.

Bert Chapman Sr. is the church musical chairman. Revival services will begin Sunday, March 22, and will continue each night at 7:30. The featured speaker will be Viola Bimler.

Mission from Venice

It was some weekend in Champaign.

The eight best small school basketball teams in Illinois gathered to decide who was best, and the Venice Red Devils came away with the hardware. They have even passed the missing "s" back on the state championship trophy.

The Devils finished at 29-3, with one of their losses coming to large school power East St. Louis Lincoln and another coming in a forfeit to Lovesjoy when coach Clinton Harris pulled his team off the court after a brawl.

It was, to be sure, a great season, and the thrilling conclusion to Saturday night's 56-54 win over Okawville was a fitting end to the entire year.

But more than that, the action in the stands, on the sidelines and on the court after the final victory was a story in itself.

As a final note to the championship season, congratulations go to the loyal Venice fans. They were outnumbered by the fans of the other competing schools in Champaign, but they weren't outvoted. Congratulations also to Mayor Tyrone Echols and the rest of the city.

Congratulations to Superintendent of Schools Robert Vickers, who can retire with another state championship (Venice also won it all in Vickers' first year as superintendent — 1973), and to Venice High School principal John Rush. Congratulations also to Wilbert Clauser and the rest of the school board.

Congratulations also to cheerleader sponsor Juanita Long, who also did a great job as a scorekeeper. Cheerleaders Andrea Silas, Stacey Brown, Wakita Walker, Natalie Ball, Meishel Watkins, Vickie Watts and Tammy Foster kept those Red Devil fans charged up.

Congratulations also to the coaching staff, Clinton Harris and Rick Everage, who turned a group that easily could have relied on one great star into a true team.

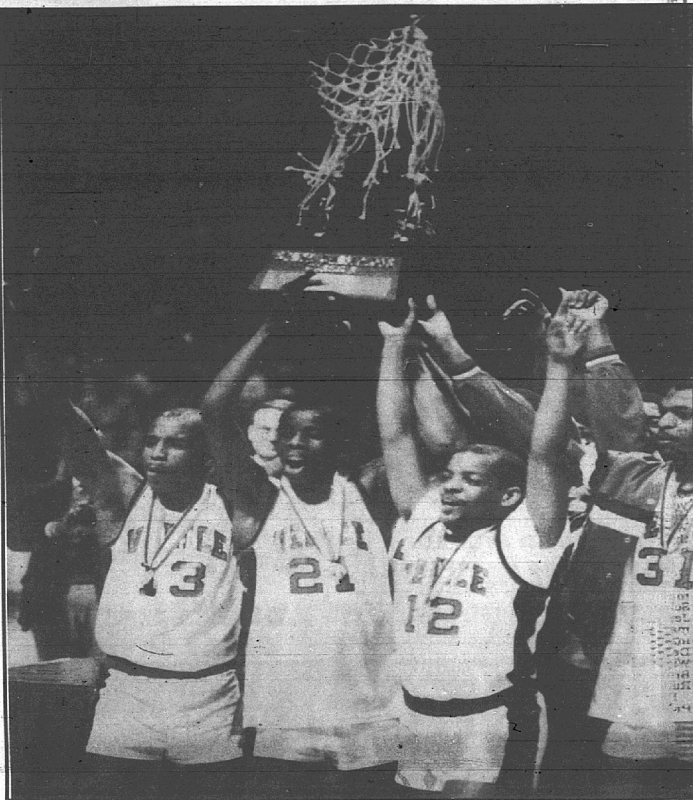

And finally, congratulations to the young men who really made all happen: Orlando Love, John Marchbanks, Kevin Gardner, Lionel Wiley, Hosea King, Darrell Buie, Daryl Jackson, Dale Turner, Wilfred Wigfall, Vincent Harris and Jesse Hall — the 1987 Venice Red Devils, Illinois Class A Basketball Champions.

THE PLAYERS were charged up as they came out of the locker room for the title game.

PRINCIPAL JOHN RUSH and coaches Everage and Harris were thrilled after the title game.

VINCENT HARRIS, Wilfred Wigfall, Orlando Love and Darrell Buie display the state championship trophy.

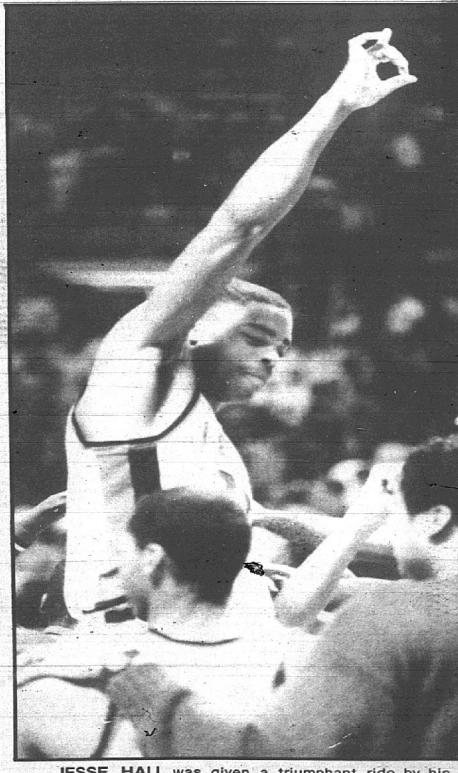

TODD WISE, a sophomore at Venice High School, is a true Red Devil at heart.

RED DEVIL CHEERLEADERS whooped it up all weekend at the Assembly Hall.

THE VENICE BENCH watches intently as coach Harris gives instructions.

JESSE HALL was given a triumphant ride by his teammates after his two free throws gave the Devils the title.

Warriors strong in distance running and field events

By Carl Jacobs

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City track team will have a slew of returning members back from last year. Dave McClain's boys team returns eight seniors, five juniors, and three sophomores.

Gary Morgan and assistant Natalie Buster will have one senior, six juniors and four sophomores returning for the girls team.

Though they have good numbers out for the teams, both squads' strength will be in the middle and long distances. "The teams will be lacking in the sprints," McClain said. "But the girls will be strong in the shot and discus."

Terri Selph, who qualified for state last season, tossed the discus 117 feet last year.

"With some work, she can return to the state meet this year," McClain said.

Seniors that are returning for the boys team are Jake Varadian and Paul Brandt on the mile and two-mile relay team. Tom Miller will also run in the two-mile. Steve Moutria and Terry Riggs will run the sprints for the Warriors.

In the field events, Paul Sutter will participate in the pole vaults and the sprints. Dave Bassoo will long jump and John Humphries will triple jump.

Junior returners include Kurt Atkinson and Jim Birkhart in the mile and two-mile relay team. Herb Heaton will run 400 meter and low hurdles. Steve Terziovski will run 400 meters and low hurdles. Vince Darnell will return in the high jump.

are Mike Patterson in the two-mile, Randy Odum in the high and low hurdles, Rick Daws in the shot and discus, Gerald Moss in the pole vault and Mike Fea in the long jump.

Despite the numbers, McClain did not want to speculate on this year's team.

"The kids are working hard and have a good attitude, but I don't know how the season is going to turn out," McClain said. The girls have Selph back in the discus along with junior Paula Shane and Julie Kern in the shot and discus. Wendy Knollman will return in the long jump and sprints. Marianne Finn will lead the mile and two-mile relay teams, while Maria Moslander will participate in the two-mile. Liz Gabriel, Liz Adams, Sindy Smith and Kristi Morgan will run in the sprints.

DAVE MCCLAIN, Natalie Buster and Gary Morgan will lead the Warrior track team this season. McClain will coach the boys team, while Morgan will coach the girls, assisted by Buster.

In the field events, Smith will high jump along with Wendy Crane.

The boys open their season against Mascoutah and O'Fallon at O'Fallon next Monday. The girls open against Belleville West March 26.

The toughest meet for the Warriors will be the Belleville East Relays and the Belleville West Invitational.

"There is great talent in that meet," McClain said. "It's very exciting to participate in and to watch."

Trojanettes could run wild

MADISON — In most cases, after a big season a coach can count on a letdown.

The great seniors who led you to the heights the previous year are gone, and now it's time to rebuild with younger athletes.

But that's not the case with the Madison girls track team. Although sending seven athletes to the state meet last year and returning with four medals, the Trojanettes don't figure to be any worse this year. In fact, they might be better.

That's because the star-studded group from 1986 included no seniors. That's right, everybody is returning for the 1987 season and a couple of talented freshmen have joined the group.

Head coach Luvenia Long won't make any wild predictions, but there is clearly excitement in Trojanland.

"I think everyone realizes that Madison is a No. 1 contender," Long said. "I told the freshmen coming in what is expected from this team. We've had some success here, and no one expects any less."

Tammy Deal, Lisa Davenport, Tammie Enlow, Sheila Marshall, LaGloria Marshall, Melissa Davenport and Vivian Turner all made the journey to Charleston for the Class A State Meet last May 17. Deal returned a state champion in the 400 meter run and also anchored the winning 800 meter medley relay team. (See MADISON, page 3D)
